. . . . ITEMS OF . . . . SPORT!

Tom McDonald has finally got his new Washington Athletic Club football team under way and is so enthusiastic that he believes his bunch will acquire momentum sufficient to steam roller Multnomah on December 21st.

Once more we arise to remark that anything the Northwestern League desires or is entitled to is sure to provoke a war.

There is a rumor to the effect that Ed. Watkins, of Tacoma, punched Cal. Ewing. Well, Cal went to Milwaukee looking for a fight.

Miller Huggins, the new manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, is under suffragette rule in its strictest sense.

Dave Smith, the Australian champion sailed for home on November 19th, as he has been signed up for three bouts in that country.

According to the reports from New Orleans, Wolgast made the promoter give him $15,000 for his end and also $1,000 to his referee.

Jack Morris, who did considerable boxing in this country last year and who was being pointed for the lightweight championship of England, boxed Johnny Summers a ten round draw in London the other night.

Sheriff Harburger, of New York, who supervises the bouts held in that city, works as hard outside the ring as the boxers in the ring when he is watching a bout. With every lead made by the scrappers he ducks, blocks, avoids the punches and ofter leads viciously with both hands.

Jerry and Fred Delaney, the English boxers that Bob Deady of Philadelphia has under his wing, are making good in this country. Bob is a veteran in the game and knows a good boxer when he sees one in action. Unless the Delaney brothers were the real goods Deady would not be managing them.

Dick Roberts ,the veteran English middleweight, died in Harringay, London, Eng., the other day at the age of 55 years. He was a great boxer, but his height handicapped him to a considerable extent. When Billy Madden held a tournament in England to find some one to meet John L. Sullivan, Roberts met Charley Mitchell in the final bout and was defeated by Mitchell.

Jack Britton and Young Saylor are to meet again. They have been matched to box in Dayton, Ohio, on Thanksgiving afternoon. Their battle last September terminated at the halfway period on a foul, Britton being declared the winner. It was an unsatisfactory ending and the sports hope their coming battle will end in a manner that will settle who is the better boxer. It will be a great mill.

Jimmy Dunn, manager of Johnny Kilbane, has established a booking exchange for fighters in Cleveland. In the circulars he is sending the promoters of the country he states that he can get them any boxer in the world without expense to them other than the price for the boxers' services. Dunn states that he has forty boxers under his management. Some managers have all the trouble they want looking after the business end of one boxer.

Tony Ross has eliminated Al. Palzer from the "white hope" stakes.

When we think of the future of lacrosse magnates we can't help recalling what happened to Turkey.

And by the way the Victoria sport writer may just as well trot out the syndicate and unload the $10,000 now that war has been declared in hockey circles.

Don't imagine for one minute, gentle reader that hockey clubs are going to get the stars without doling out just what said stars want.

Once more Tommy Ryan has come to life by declaring that he has quit the boxing game because Jack Johnson has given the sport a black eye.

How times have changed! Here is our old friend described in the Cincinnati Enquirer as follows: "'Gunboat' Smith has been the reigning sensation in Gotham for some months, and has floored for the count nearly all the big fellows he has met. He is not a big, clumsy fighter, as many suppose, but a trim built athlete weighing in the neighborhood of 175 pounds, which is about the same weight at which Wuest goes in the ring when properly prepared.

Dal Hawkins, ex-featherweight, of California is in England on a business trip. He is through boxing.—Eastern Exchange.

Dal has been through so long they have forgotten he was a lightweight.

We never gamble more than $1 per season, but on this occasion we're willing to raise it that cute Eddie Lalonde will play hockey in the east and that he will get more than any other man for the season's work.

Sam Lichten hein says that the coast newspapers are too windy. We must thank so competent a judge on wind, noise, thunder, etc., as Mr. Lishtenhein for the compliment.

Talk of Cobb Retiring.

There is no fear of Ty Cobb quitting baseball because the Detroit club will refuse to acceded to his demands. Cobb wants a three year contract for $45,000 and he is very apt to get it. At the rate good ball players are being paid these days, Cobb is entitled to all that he asks for the reason that he is not only the greatest of them all but he is the best attraction in the game today, and is one of the few players who help the gate receipts regardless of what his team's position in the race may be. As yet there is no controversy over the contract between Cobb and the Detroit club and, in fact, there may not be, but the story is going the rounds that Cobb has confided to a friend that unless he gets his price he will quit the game and go into the brokerage business in New York. That, of course, is all bosh, for Cobb will never quit the game as long as he can star in it, and furthermore it is not likely that the Detroit club would start the season without having him in the line-up.

Tiny Sherlock Holmes.

Tommy's mother had taken him to church to hear the evening sermon, and they occupied seats in the gallery. Tommy tried not to allow his attention to wander from the preacher, but it did. He seemed to be particularly interested in a family who sat in front of him, and when the sermon was about half over he whispered to his mother: "Mama, I never saw these people before, but I know their names." "Hush, dear!" "But I do," persisted Tommy. "Their name's Hill." "How do you know?" "Every time the preacher says his text, 'I lift up mine eyes to the hills,' those two big girls look at each other and smile." Subsequent inquiry proved that Tommy was quite correct.

Edith—Why did she marry him?

Ethel—To cure him of drinking.

Edith—And did she succeed?

Ethel—Yes; she's so extravagant he can't afford it.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Binks—I'm getting along fine, doctor. You need not have stopped in this morning.

Doctor—Oh, I was over to see Jones and I thought I'd just drop in and kill two birds with one stone.—Judge.

THE GRIM REAPER WORKS THROUGH NEGLECTED COLDS

A slight cold does not suggest serious danger, but the suddenness with which a slight cold becomes a serious cold leads to apalling consequences. A slight cold demands immediate treatment.

Mathieu's Syrup of Tar and Cod Liver Oil taken at the outset removes all possible danger. It heals the inflamed parts, strengthens the tissue and builds up the whole system to defy further attacks.

The Tar is the healing agent. The Cod Liver Oil the strengthening element; combined properly as in Mathieu's Syrup they are invincible. Large bottle 35 cents.

For sale at all dealers.

When headache and fever are present with a cold take Mathieu's Nervine Powders to reduce the fever and allay the pain. J. L. Mathieu Co., Props., Sherbrooke, Que. (C)

DRAMATIC CAREER OF A BOY WITHOUT A CHANCE

Started as a Newsboy; Is Now Mayor of Nottingham, England.

From newsboy to mayor is the record of Councillor Thomas Ward of Nottingham, who has just acepted an invitation to be mayor of the city next year. Born in one of the poorest parts of Nottingham fifty-four years ago, Mr. Ward has seen more than the average of the vicissitudes of life. At the age of seven he was selling newspapers in the street. From thirteen to sixteen he was serving a hard apprenticeship in the Hull fishing fleet in days when steam was unthought of for fishing craft. Returning to Nottingham, he worked for two years in the pit as a loader, but came out during the big strike. Then he started on a remarkable voyage around the world. Starting out from Plymouth on a sailing vessel, he reached Sydney after a passage of eighty-four days. After six months in Sydney he made for San Francisco in a ship which took fifty-four days. He was soon on the move again, and this time he made his way right across the continent to New York. Part of that distance he walked and the rest he accomplished by getting lifts on wagons and railway trucks. It was August when he left San Francisco, and Christmas when he strugled into New York, whence he shipped as a stoker to Glasgow. He thus completed a voyage around the world before he was twenty-one. Seeing from an advertisement that a porter was wanted in a Nottingham yeast establishment, he applied for and obtained it, and ultimately became the owner of the business. He has been a member of the Nottinghant City Council since 1904, and three years ago he filled the office of sheriff. For fourteen years he has been a member of the Board of Guardians.

Mrs. Winks—Is your husband a good poker player?

Mrs. Binks—I don't think so. The men are always urging him to play.—Somerville Journal.

"Privates in the army eat more than the officers."

"Is that right?"

"Yes. There are more of them."—The Chaparrall, Stanford.
