YOU AUTO KNOW!

—By Art Murray

As you read this Santa will be near and your radio will be sounding off on the well worn Xmas theme touched up no doubt with the modern narratations of the famous story by Elvis the Pelvis or some such troubador.

Today we are going to stay away from the role of the peddler and offer our sincere thanks to those of you who have helped make our daily bread available here at Rupert Motors.

We did not send out Xmas cards this year so treat this short column our Xmas wish to all of you—a wish that all will be happy for you and yours during the festive season and during the years to come. In lieu of Xmas cards we are sending on your behalf, a cheque to assist the Salvation Army in their very worthy and magnificent mission of helping the less fortunate. We know you will be happy to hear that we have done so.

In retrospect we pause for a moment this Xmas 1958. In the vast majority of homes in Prince Rupert we will find the basket of plenty and the happy beaming faces of children at play as they anticipate the arrival of old Saint Nick. Let us endeavor this Xmas '58, to impress upon these children the true significance of this great feast and tell and retell the story of how it all began. Let us not hide this great story behind a row of bottles on the shelf—we may wake up after it all over to find out we missed all that was joyous about the story of Bethlehem.

And at this time of year we should say thanks and good wishes to all those that have served so well in our community during the past year. We have our public servants, our clergy, our politicians who listen to our criticisms day in and day out, our linemen who keep our lights burning in all kinds of weather, our firemen who protect our homes and of course our Police who are ever vigilant and who often go far beyond the call of duty to maintain law and order about us. These and many others have a thankless task to perform and if you check sometime you'll find them always at the ready on your behalf.

And if you experienced, that priceless feeling at seeing your young in the role of the entertainer at the annual School Concert as we did this past week you too will know what we owe to the teachers of our children. And if your youngest happens to be a boy with freckles, with the inevitable and decorative boyish shiner and if he stood up with his toothless grin even though his bow tie was strangling him and he manishly did his job as he was taught to do it then you too will want to join us in thanking the Almighty for the riches he has sent our way in the form of healthy children. Somehow all this tends to make one feel very humble.

To those forced to spend this Xmas '58 in hospital it is our wish and hope that you will be well soon and that some joy however little it may be may come your way on Christmas Day.

So from the staff of Rupert Motors Limited its a Merry Xmas to all.
