PASSING OF A FRENCH WRITER

Anatole France was Great Imaginative Interpreter Winner of Nobel Prize

TOURS, France, Oct. 14. — Anatole France the illustrious novelist died here at the week end.

Deceased's real name was Jacques Anatole Thibualt, and he was born in Paris on April 16, 1844, the son of a bookseller. He grew up in literary surroundings, and was educated at Stanislaus College. He has been described as a skeptic in religion, metaphysics, politics and science yet in later years some of his ideals underwent a change, for he was interested in Bolshevist experiment in Russia.

In 1920 France, at the age of 76, was married to Mlle Emma La Prevotte, more than 40 years his junior, declaring that he was "starting life anew." During the world war he enlisted in the French army as a private soldier, but his years precluded his seeing active service.

Prince Rupert Billiard Association meeting tonight in the G.W.V.A. room at 8 p.m.

The dropping out of the Rebekahs from the ladies section of the Fraternal Whist League makes necessary a revision of the entire season's time table. The new schedule as drawn up by Fred E. Wermig, secretary-treasurer of the Whist League, will be found elsewhere on this page. There are now five ladies' teams in the competitions — Daughters of England, Pythian Sisters, Orange Ladies, Moose Ladies and St. Andrew's Auxiliary. There will be sets of two games on the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month. The league opens tonight with the following games set: Daughters of England vs. Pythian Sisters; Orange Ladies vs. Moose Ladies. The men's competition opens on Thursday night and there will be four games weekly thereafter.

Billiard organization for the season will be completed at the meeting of the City Billiard League called for tonight when entries will be called for and the secretary instructed to draw up the schedule for the winter. There will be first and second divisions constituting practically Senior and Intermediate leagues. The latter is a new departure in local billiard organization which gives promise of proving popular. Players and followers of the game alike are getting impatient for the season to start and will await with interest the announcement of when the opening games will be played.

INVOKED RAIN GODS TO SAVE JAP CROPS

OSAKA, Oct. 14.—A summer of unprecedented drought has brought to light strange and primitive customs among the farmers of the countryside around Osaka.

So great has become the menace to crops that there has been supplication to the rain gods, used only in the greatest emergency, and resorted to only twice in the last 70 years. This is the "opening of the sacred well" in the precincts of the famous Oira shrine, near Osaka.

Seven men are chosen by lot from among the people of the village in which the shrine is located. These offer prayers for a week, living apart in the shrine precincts, and purifying themselves by daily rites of absolution. Then a fence of dry grass is built around the sacred well and the opening begins. The well is buried deep in the earth. Before its stone cover can be reached three boxes, each containing a prayer in ancient Sanskrit, relics of the early days of Buddhism in Japan, have to be unearthed. When the stone cover of the well is removed, according to the belief, an inexhaustible flood of cold water gushes over the brim, the sky becomes overcast and rain falls heavily. How efficacious the prayers have been in this instance it not yet known.

Only twice within the memory of man has this ceremony been carried out, in 1884 and again in 1911. On the latter occasion, the farmers say, heavy rain began to fall while prayers were still being offered up.
