Many Canadians Wed in Europe

AMSTERDAM, Nov. 24 (?) — More than one in every 20 Canadian soldiers returning home will take home with him a Dutch, Belgian or French bride. Already more than 10,000 applications for permission to marry have been approved by the Canadian Army on the continent and applications have increased to more than 40 a day despite the withdrawal of more than one-half the Canadian force from Europe.

Sees Improvement In Stage Play Art

LONDON, Nov. 24 (Reuters)—Sir Max Beerbohm, in a broadcast on playgoing, said that the stage play was, on the whole, a better kind of art than it used to be.

"In my very young days the play was generally something adapted from the French and it suffered greatly in the Channel crossing."

Sir Max described himself as very mellow.

"If the bad old times, and with them the bad old tricks, were to come in again I think I should rather welcome them for old times sake. And if intellectual ideas were to vanish from the boards, I am not sure my heart would break."

Prince Rupert, B.C.

Dear Sir or Madam: November 21, 1945.

The war is over. Victory has been won and now we are thankful that once more we can resume a more normal pace of life.

If during the past six years of war you have had reasons to be dissatisfied and annoyed because we found it impossible to serve you as well as we wished to do, we offer our most sincere apologies.

It has been a tremendous job to serve both the civilian population as well as the armed forces, who also had to be kept clean, and whose cleanliness has been a very contributing factor to their health and morale and, consequently, to the winning of the war.

We wish to take this opportunity to thank you for your magnificent patience and tolerance in the face of unheard of and entirely unknown delays in service and delivery, and we also thank you most sincerely for your goodwill in the past as well as in the future.

WE ARE NOW BACK TO NORMAL AND ALL OUR WORK WILL BE RETURNED TO YOU WITHIN THREE DAYS TO NOT MORE THAN ONE WEEK—LAUNDRY AS WELL AS DRY CLEANING.

We have at your disposal a clean and sanitary plant, very well equipped, up-to-date and modern, together with a staff of experienced loyal employees, who have been with us or our predecessor for many years.

We guarantee the finest cleaning and laundering and respectfully solicit your valued patronage.

Yours for service,
Sincerely,
EVENSON'S IDEAL CLEANERS AND LAUNDRY
