HORSESHOES OF ROPE ARE THE LATEST FROM GERMANY

The Germans are providing city horses with rope shoes to prevent their slipping on asphalt and wood block pavements. These shoes were first manufactured some 25 years ago, but it is only during the last decade that the industry has grown to large proportions.

Various forms and shapes of shoes are used. Some are open at the back, like an ordinary horseshoe. Others are closed, and very often, besides being closed, there is a bridge or cross-piece joining the two sides. When this is the case the bridge is constructed like the rest of the shoe, and in order to strengthen the bottom, and especially to make the nail holes more secure, the walls of the groove are sometimes re-inforced by braces.

The space in the centre of the shoe is often covered over with various kinds of inserts to protect the frog from injury. The latest novelty, which has been adopted by the royal stables, is the insertion at the back of the shoe of a block of wood into which stiff bristles have been driven. This is an additional preventive against slipping. When the ground is covered with snow a special ice plate is inserted in its stead.

It is customary to use special nails with long heads in attaching the shoes to the hoof. When the long headed nails are used, it is possible to drive them in and to extract them without taking out the rope. These nails, which are driven between the outer side of the groove and the tarred rope, also help to hold in the rope. The tarred rope wears down simultaneously with the rest of the shoe, and it is only on rare occasions that the rope must be withdrawn and new inserted. This change can be made with removing the shoe. The average life of a rope horseshoe is six to eight weeks.

HEALTH MAXIMS.

By George Wharton James.

Get plenty of sunshine. Shut up a dog in a cellar and he will die of consumption in six months or less. Refuse to work in a room that does not get the direct rays of the sun, or, if your work compels you to remain in such a place for a while, use every free moment to be out in the sunshine. Walk out in the sunshine on every possible opportunity, exercise, breathe deep, breathe long, play, let your children play, eat, take a nap, do anything and everything you can out in the sunshine, and you will be that much nearer perfect health.

Windows up! Doors open! Let in the fresh air whenever and wherever you can. You can't

all. You can't be temperate with them, any more than you can be a temperate liar or thief. Abstain, for that is the only temperance. But eat good food temperately. Exercise temperately. Dance temperately. Walk temperately. Read, write, talk, do everything good with temperance.

Laugh every chance you get. Laughter is better than medicine. Throw physic to the dogs, take a laugh instead of a pill. Swallow a pun instead of a dose, and write down a good joke in your note book instead of the name of a new nostrum, or the address of a clever physician. Laugh and grow fat.

Laundry Helps.

Ironing between buttons on a thin blouse is likely to tear off these little fasteners, but if the blouse is placed on a folded Turkish towel the buttons will sink into the towel and the spaces between them be ironed beautifully smooth.

Another good plan is ironing handkerchiefs is to begin at the middle, because when the edges are ironed first the middle of the handkerchief is apt to swell up, making it difficult to smooth the whole properly.

The fading of colored articles is due often, not to the washing, but to the ironing. Irons that are too hot are used directly on the material, and this will more quickly fade delicate colors than any amount of washing. Be sure that the article is evenly dampened and that the iron is only hot enough to smooth the wrinkles properly by firm, even pressure, and you will have no more trouble from fading. Skirts should never be ironed across the gores, but up and down.
