The Chicago Cubs asked waivers on Pitcher Ensign Cottrell, a drafted player and under the new interleague waiver rule, Connie Mack took him. He was with Scranton in 1912.

The White Sox have a deal on with their ruddy hosed brethren for Buck O'Brien. It is said that Buck's unpopularity with Joe Wood will get him off the world's championship club.

SPORTING CRITIC SAYS JOE IS ANOTHER RING CHAMPION
AFTER SEEING BAYLEY WORK OUT, OLD TIMER PREDICTS THAT HE WILL YET WEAR WORLD'S CHAMPIONSHIP BELT.
"All that boy needs is a little schooling in the finer stuff," was the opinion of Charlie Gleason, a former star among the welters of the other side, as he witnessed Joe Bayley go through his paces with Cyclone Scott at the J. B. A. A. gymnasium recently. Gleason was one of the good sized crowd of spectators who were on hand, and he was more than tickled at the splendid showing of the Canadian lightweight champion.
"Bayley is another Wolgast, of the same sturdy, rugged and lion hearted class, that the Michigan boy belongs to, and he has everything that makes a champion," continued Gleason. "He lacks the finish of a fighter like Willie Ritchie or other lightweight stars, but he is sure there with the punch and can stand the punishment. Give Bayley another year or two to learn the finer side of the game and I really think he will top the whole bunch of 'em."

Though Scott had about twenty pounds on Bayley and a big advantage in reach, the pair milled matters pretty lively. The champion appeared in perfect condition and took on Al Hardwick after Scott has retired to the cooling comfort of a shower. For another three rounds he exchanged love taps with the James Bay wrestling star and finished up by skipping the rope. Bayley jumped on the scales after the workout and just tipped the beam at 134 pounds.

WHAT TO DO TO REVIVE THOSE APPARENTLY DEAD FROM SHOCK
USEFUL KNOWLEDGE OF WHAT TO DO IN CASE OF ELECTROCUTION—NEW METHOD BEING TAUGHT WHERE WIRES ARE DANGEROUS.

The following instructions are being widely circulated throughout power houses and places where death may result from electric shock, and are of utmost importance and value to all:
The Schaefer method, which in the course of some years will probably penetrate to the little red school house, was unanimously adopted by the commission as far better than the Sylvester. The rules give the following instructions for applying the method. They are worth quoting as being probably the most authoritative of all directions on this particular matter. The rules say:

1. As soon as the victim is clear of the live conductor quickly feel with your fingers in his mouth and throat and remove any foreign body (tobacco, false teeth, etc.). Then begin artificial respiration at once. Do not stop to loosen the patient's clothing every moment of delay is serious.

Disallow Crowding.
2. Lay the subject on his stomach, with arms extended as straight forward as possible, and with face to one side, so that the nose and mouth are free for breathing. Let an assistant draw forward the patient's tongue. (It may be intercepted, however, as in the Sylvester method.) If possible, avoid so laying the subject that any burned places are pressed upon. Do not permit bystanders to crowd about and shut off fresh air.

3. Kneel straddling the subject's thighs and facing his head; rest the palms of your hands on the loins (the muscles of the small of the back) with thumbs nearly touching each other and with fingers spread over the lowest ribs.
4. With arms held straight, swing forward slowly so that the weight of your body is gradually brought to bear upon the subject. This operation, which should take from two to three seconds, must not be violent—internal organs may be injured. The lower part of the chest and also the abdomen are thus compressed, and air is forced out of the lungs.

Fresh Air in Lungs.
5. Now immediately swing backward so as to remove the pressure, but leave your hands in place. Through their elasticity the chest walls expand and the lungs are thus supplied with fresh air.
6. After two seconds swing forward again. This repeat deliberately twelve to fifteen times a minute the double movement of compression and release—a complete respiration, in four or five seconds. If a watch or clock is not visible follow the natural rate of your own deep breathing—swinging forward with each expiration and backward with each inspiration.
7. Continue artificial respiration (if necessary, two hours or longer), without interruption, until natural breathing is established, or until a physician arrives. Even after natural breathing begins carefully watch that it continues. If it stops start artificial respiration again. During the period of operation keep the subject warm by applying a proper covering and by laying beside his body bottles or rubber bags filled with warm (not hot) water. The attention of keeping the subject warm should be given by an assistant or assistants.
8. Do not give any liquids whatever by the mouth until the subject is fully conscious.

COMMON TALK OF THE NATIONAL PROSPERITY
Canada's Trade Now Greater than United States in 1875
Ottawa, Nov. 29.—Continuing the debate on the address in the Senate yesterday, Senator Loughheed said that Canada was on the eve of an era of prosperity that he believed Canadians were unable to properly appreciate. This was not so with outsiders, and the people of the United States, becoming aware of the vast commercial opportunities looming in the near future, were making active preparations to exploit them. The trade of the latter country in the year 1875 did not reach a billion dollars, whilst that of Canada had already reached that figure.
Senator Bostock drew attention to the lack of provision that was made for additional senators for the Province of British Columbia. He asked for something to be done immediately in this respect.
