FERGUSON'S 'P. & O.'

Liqueur Scotch Whisky

TESTIMONIAL

Dr. Thomas, Hirwain, Glyn Neath, reports: "It is, in my opinion, a good, wholesome, mild whisky, without the obnoxious after-taste you find among nine out of twelve other brands. I have great pleasure in advising its use where required."

PROSPECTORS RETURN

Men with Flowing Locks Attract Attention When Train Arrived Last Night.

Among the arrivals by last evening's train were two gentlemen with long flowing locks that attracted considerable attention from the large crowd that assembled to witness that interesting feature of Sunday's happenings. The two men were W. F. Farnsworth and son, who have just returned from an extended prospecting trip in the interior, going in by way of Stewart. They left for the south this morning on the steamer Prince Rupert.

A. Erskine Smith, president of the Red Cliff Company, Portland Canal, proposes sending a prospecting party to explore part of the Hudson Bay area.

BRITISH SCENES FOR MOVING PICTURES

Tired of the Animated Story Films Supplied by Continental Firms.

London, May 1.—"Tired of the stars and stripes" are the words used in announcing a combination of manufacturers, agents and exhibitors of British moving picture organization, organized to try and substitute in England and the British colonies pictures of English scenery and waterfalls for the dashing animated story telling films supplied by American and continental firms. The announcement contiues:

"The British public is admittedly tired of American wild west scenes and peculiarly continental domestic scenes. The lack of British films is giving the inhabitants of the colonies who have never seen England totally erroneous impressions of the mother country. If they see a battleship it flies the stars and stripes; if they see a fire brigade at work the background is New York."

The complaint is made that the United States supplies Canada with 90 per cent. of the films exhibited in the Dominion.

TRIBUTARY WEALTH FLOWING INTO RUPERT

Rupert and Smithers should be in full swing before the end of midsummer.

"The coming of the railroad has instilled fresh life into the pioneer settlers, miners and prospectors all along the valley. It is essentially a mixed farming country, but inadequate transportation has apparently stayed the farmers' hands hitherto and production has been limited to the needs of the home market. Hudson's Bay Mountain, which overlooks Smithers townsite, is rich in silver-lead ore and several large veins carry exceptionally high gold values. Hundreds of tons of ore have been dumped and the future of the mining industry is practically assured."

While along the valley Mr. Billingham visited many of the farms and inspected the workings of several of the prospects. "The northern interior has left a very favorable impression," he said. "Compared with the famous Kootenay and Boundary country, the Arrow Lakes and the Okanagan districts, in the matter of soil and scenery the stretch of country between Moricetown falls and the further end of the valley cannot be far behind in the race for superiority. As an agricultural area it has in fact many advantages over its more advanced rivals, if only on account of its larger areas of arable land. Exhibits of rye, oats, hay, vegetables and roots of all kinds and small fruits have already demonstrated the fact that the Bulkley can produce anything of that nature equal to if not better than anything he has seen in the southern districts and while perhaps the short seasons may mitigate against successful and profitable culture of the standard varieties of apples and other large fruits, there is no question that with proper fertilization several of the pre-empted areas could be cultivated to make the large fruit industry a commercial success.

"The advent of the railroad will naturally give the necessary impetus and when the country is more settled and farmed in a scientific manner there is no possible argument why the Bulkley Valley will not hold its own with competitors in the other parts of the interior."
