THE WESTHOLME WAS CROWDED LAST NIGHT

Bostonians Started Their Second Season Here with Promise of a Second Success.

That there is no doubt of the popularity of the Juvenile Bostonians was evidenced last night by the crowded condition of the Westholme Opera House. No doubt there were many in the large audience attracted by the fact that a popular young lady of this city, Miss Vera Lockhart, joined the company on their last visit, and last night was the first opportunity to witness her performance. Miss Lockhart was no disappointment, but seemed to be unfortunate in not having been cast for a part that gave more opportunity for the display of her special abilities. However, there is a change of bills every evening, and tonight Miss Lockhart may probably be seen to better advantage.

"The Dream Girl" is a medley of merry nonsense, catchy songs and pretty costumes, strung like colored beads on the slenderest sort of silken thread, and as bubbling as a champagne cup. In the title role, Ina Mitchell marches through the first act like a Greek chorus, or the ghost in Hamlet, but in the second part she has a couple of pretty scenes which are daintily acted. Thom Hellen as Captain Lonnie Austin was wildly applauded in the song "Cupid Will Guide You." In the chorus "Blushing Moon," which opened the second act, there was a blending of harmonies and a sonority of force that won hearty applause.

But in the singing and acting both the medals must be awarded to Patsie Henry and Doris Canfield. Two songs of the former, "If I Had a Chance Like That" and "Nothing to Do Till Tomorrow," were imitatively done and brought down the house. Doris Canfield's "Row, Row, Row" was another successful hit, and the trio "Powder My Nose" was voted one of the most catchy of the bill. The play tonight is "La Mascotte," in which Miss Lockhart has the character of a Mexican noble.

Not Copper but Iron.

In regard to the story that the surveyors of the Canadian Northern had discovered a big cache of copper wire, intended for the line to Alaska and across Behring Sea to Russia, which line was abandoned when the Atlantic cable proved to be a success, a local engineer states that surveying on the original line of the Grand Trunk Pacific from Vancouver to Fort George over three years ago he and his party came across this wire, which is not of copper but galvanized iron. Therefore, after all these years, it is not of much real value after all.

Sadie Roy of Comox avenue was fined $25 and costs by Magistrate Carrs this morning on the charge of keeping a disorderly house. The evidence showed that she had failed to observe the rules and regulations of the restricted area.

BRITISH COLUMBIA'S OFFICES IN LONDON

That Old Landmark, the Continental Hotel, Will Have to Come Down.

London, May 19.—The old Continental Hotel at Lower Regent and Charles streets, one of London's best known landmarks, and for many years a rendezvous for supper parties, has been sold to British Columbia, and in a few weeks will be torn down with the three adjoining buildings to make way for the big office building which will be the London headquarters of the most westerly Canadian province. The owner of the Continental was Signor Oddenino, who is the proprietor of the Gramscini Cafe and the Imperial Restaurant just above Piccadilly Circus.

The decision of British Columbia to go to Regent street is a severe blow to Earl Grey, who has been trying to make Aldwich Crescent the centre for the colonial government buildings.

TO ATTACK CITY BY AIR, LAND AND SEA

Mexican Insurgents Planning a Vigorous Assault on the Guaymas Fortress.

Nogales, Ariz., May 19.—The projected attack by Sonora state troops on Guaymas may take the form of a land, marine and air battle, made possible by the crossing into Mexico during last night of a complete aeroplane. A special train from the direction of Naco and bearing the machine arrived at Nogales, Sonora, today and was hurried south. The Mexican gunboat Guerrero lies in the harbor ready to assist the federal garrison.

After the confiscation of his aeroplane below Tucson, Didier Masson, the French aviator, escaped into Mexico and since has been awaiting the arrival of the second machine. It is said that the machine which crossed last night is the second of a series of five contracted for by the insurgents' state department.

PREPARE TO PROTECT THE PACIFIC COAST

"Australian Ports" Inserted in Chartered Vessels' Papers Merely as a Blind.

Philadelphia, May 20.—Shipping men who are supposed to be well informed said today that the United States government was taking every precaution against an invasion of the Pacific Coast. Their statements were based on the information that the E. I. Dupont-De Nemours Powder Company, of Wilmington, Del., had chartered twelve foreign vessels to carry explosives to the Pacific Coast defences. The charters for the vessels, seven of which were chartered in this country and five abroad, provide "for the carrying of explosives from north of Hatteras to the North Pacific Coast or Australian ports."

Shipping men explain that the words "Australian ports" are put in the charters simply as a blind, and that all the explosives are to go to North Pacific ports. But their most convincing argument is that under the present laws foreign vessels cannot engage in a coastwise trade in the United States unless they are directly or indirectly in the charter of the United States government. All of the vessels under charter by the Dupont people fly foreign flags, and shipments from the Atlantic to the Pacific Coast of the United States are considered coastwise shipments. Basing their statements on these facts, shipping men say the government is prepared to transport 36,000 tons of explosives from the Dupont works to the North Pacific Coast as fast as the explosives can be manufactured.

CHAUNCEY DEPEW ACTS AS GUIDE IN CAPITOL

Ex-Senator Tells of Senate Peculiarities to Distinguished Foreign Visitors.

Washington, May 20.—"And now, gentlemen, we come to the chamber of the senate of the United States."

The speaker was former Senator Chauncey M. Depew of New York. He was acting as guide to the capitol to the visiting commissioners come to arrange the centenary celebration of the signing of the treaty of Ghent.

"Is it much changed, may I ask?" said a British delegate.

"The senate never changes," replied Depew, "except as to personnel. I happen to know from personal experience."

"Have you many rules?" asked Lord Weardale, another British delegate.

"No rules to shut off debate," said Guide Depew. "A senator can talk as long as he wants." "And when he talks too long, you call that filibustering, do you not?" ventured a Frenchman. "We call it a nuisance," replied the venerable and polished capitol guide.

"Now we come to the marble room, gents," Guide Depew said, conducting the sightseers across the senate lobby.

"Here's where senators meet their constituents who come here to see them. You come here and send in your card to your senator and he comes out to see you if he wants to. If he doesn't want to, the page tells you he has gone to the ball game. This is the room occupied by the President of the United States. Years ago Washington and Adams used to come here often, but no one ever did that since until now. President Wilson has revived the old custom."
