WHAT IS BORDEN PLAYING FOR?

The naval policy of Premier Borden is to give as a free gift to England thirty-five million three dreadnoughts for the defence of the empire, and the senate has very properly turned that idea of an annual subscription in cash to Great Britain down. Sir Wilfrid Laurier's proposition, to which Mr. Borden, then in opposition, and his party with him, agreed was that Canada should build two naval units, one for the Atlantic and one for the Pacific, to strengthen the imperial · navy, and that the vessels for these naval units should be built in Canada and should be manned by Canadians.

This would have been scheme in which Prince Rupert would have been largely in-We will shortly have completed a large dry dock here, and this was part of the policy of the last Liberal government to stimulate the shipbuilding industry at this going-to-be important Pacific port. But what of this present government? Does it propose to do anything to encourage the shipbuilding industry of the Dominion? Very much on the contrary.

The estimates for the department of marine and fisheries were being voted on at Ottawa and there was a particular item of a million dollars for government steamers and icebreakers. Hon. Rudolph Lemieux raised the question as to whether the government
