Control Your Coal Expenditure

In the Gurney-Oxford range you will find more exclusive features, more essential improvements that appeal to the thrifty housewife than have ever before been found in any one kitchen range.

But most important of all is the Economizer.

This clever device for regulating the drafts saves 1 ton of coal in every 6 that you would burn in the ordinary range. It takes the smell of cooking out of the kitchen and sends it up the chimney. You know what that means.

The Economizer enables you to absolutely control the amount of coal you wish to consume and still have a perfect heat for cooking. It will enable you to keep your fire going while you go out shopping or visit your neighbor, and all that is necessary for you to do on your return is to press the small lever and you are assured of a hot fire in a very few moments.

A Gurney-Oxford stove is sanitary-no dirt can accumulate on its beautifully smooth sur-

Its top is polished steel which abolishes forever that dreadful operation - blacking the stove.

Of paramount interest also are the other remarkable and exclusive attachments - the Special Grate, the Divided Flue and the Broiler.

Every woman who knows owns a Gurney-Oxford.

The pupils are takwere several who had seen him in the same role years ago and warmly praised the marked ad- 3 vance he has made in the perfection of his art. By the time the first scene was over the audience began to titter as soon as he appeared, in anticipation of the next wonderfully funny stunt | he would surprise them with. He reminds one of De Wolff Hopper, but as an eccentric singer and dancer and general fun 2 maker he is more than the compeer of Hopper.

The choruses were given with surprising volume and sparkling shading and in nearly all the part songs and solos there were enthusiastic recalls. There were plenty of light pretty songs of the lilting variety, some fine concertos and instrumental music filling the interstices with swelling harmonies. The duet "Pistoli Carabi," by Leslie Donaghey and William Bevan, and that of 'I Love You Dearly," by Eva Pollard and Pattie Hill were marked

But all the songs, all the dances, and all the voices were good them all. For special mention, however, a space must be reserved for Miss, Nellie McNamara who, as Father Maxime, gave just before the curtain fell "The Rosary." The scene is in an ancient abbey with a crowd of frocked monks, which added something, perhaps, to the impressiveness. But outside of these accessories the singing and the acting were superb. Never before in Prince Rupert has this beautiful anthem been heard and understood in all its solemn significances. The beautiful soprano voice moaned and sighed and soared in a religious ectasy that carried the audience with it. It created a most profound impression.

The comic opera tonight is The Mikado," which is also an old favorite.
