Frozen - Pipes

Don't follow the old expensive methods of thawing pipes. It costs more than the pipes are worth.

I have just received a new device for thawing pipes by electricity. You don't have to open up your pipes. Just turn the current on and in three minutes the frost is gone.

THAW BY ELECTRICITY

MANY CITIZENS ADVOCATE POLICY OF PROGRESS

actual cost of producing electricity now is $188 h. p. Under the agreement on the 500 unit it would be $50, graduating down to $25. He favored municipal ownership but not at a cost of $137 per h. p. Mr. Manson tried to make the people believe that if the debentures were sold the hydro-electric plant could be erected, but he did not explain how the council could get the $214,500 extra money necessary to do it, yet he must have known there is not sufficient money voted to do it. It is impossible to do it out of general funds because the law does not allow a council to take more than $15,000 out of general funds for any one piece of work. Even supposing the hydro-electric is built, if the $45,000 bylaw for extensions is defeated how will it be possible to extend the system to distribute the power?

Chairman McCaffery pointed out that every argument on the subject has got to start from the point that the power will cost the same whether we buy it or produce it. If we do not get more power the city cannot furnish the new Premier Hotel or the new apartment house with light. D. H. Morrison said the first issue of the campaign should be who will be mayor. We have had experience with both and we all know the difference in administration. It would be a disgrace to elect Mr. Newton. He has always been a detriment to the city. Every mayor and every alderman who has been active has been kicked from pillar to post by his paper. Business men refuse to run for office on account of it.

W. P. Lynch compared in his pointed manner the difference in the accounting of this year, when there is business system, with that of last year, when no one ever knew where any one account stood within $20,000 or $30,000. The absurd sewer proposition submitted last year would prove to any man with common knowledge that ex-Mayor Newton has no idea of handling city business. Vancouver for thirty years found it was all she could do to finance her streets, sewer and water service, and work can be done cheaper there than here. We want a mayor who has some idea of handling these affairs and who knows our limitations.

Mayor Pattullo said the turning down of the bylaw policy announced Monday evening means nothing short of ruin for the city. It means that no city work can go on and all the money raised on the present debentures would have to go to pay the short-term notes sold last year. The governments are spending three-quarters of a million in buildings here. The Grand Trunk is spending millions on the water front, and a million for an hotel, while undoubtedly we have all contributed our share in property and we are pledged to the G. T. P. and government for millions, and now our opponents tell us one and a half million is our municipal limit and we must shut down.

He pictured the party of business men visiting the eastern cities on the special train as has been proposed. What would these men do when they were compelled to tell prospective investors here that the city could not give them light, water, power, or telephones? It is more important to have power this year than years later. The next two or three years is when we have to get our start. The policy of this year's council has been one of safety and progressiveness. We were never before in such good shape. This year we ought to carry on a progressive publicity campaign. But we dare not do it if we have to show our visitors that the city is shut down. If you are in favor of building up the city join us. If you favor stagnation join the other side. Our opponents are always claiming to be the great friends of the laboring man. What will become of the laboring man if there is no city work?

H. F. McRae said it was important to disseminate information. We should have more meetings and get the facts out. If we follow the policy of our opponents we will have the conditions of the last year and a half for another year and a half, and that means disaster for most of us. It is a serious situation. The price we have been buying property at demands that something has to be done. If we break the value of real estate where will we be? Will we put the pessimists in who say they believe in the city and don't?

O. H. Nelson said he did not believe in party feeling being allowed to affect local issues. He was prepared to vote for a man irrespective of party allegiance. This year means a great deal to Prince Rupert and we need a mayor to keep a close watch of affairs and do credit to the city.

The power agreement is not a question of public ownership or of a corporation coming in. We are a young city up against a big expense. The city would be foolish not to accept this agreement and tide over a precarious period. I favor public ownership but I am not prepared for it at a loss. This agreement has been held up too long. The council of two years ago let it dangle along so as to use it as a club at the city elections. The city cannot afford to let its streets go simply to say we own our own electric plant. There is no virtue in just owning a plant. That will not save the financiers. I would put a water wheel in the basement of my shop tomorrow if I thought that would soften the hearts of the bankers and tide me over all my financial difficulties. You know newspaper men are notoriously poor financiers.

George Leek said he was not afraid to buy electric light from a company. His light card this month looked pretty big. If you vote down everything we will all have to go over to Porcher Island and farm.

J. H. Kelly noticed that the opposition campaign was petty. At the bylaw meeting the other evening it was agreed not to talk for or against candidates, yet several of the speakers could not refrain from hitting the mayor below the belt. Manson had a good argument to pull down, but we want a man to build up. If we do without sewers we will have a big hospital instead of a big city. Glasgow, the model municipal ownership city, did not own any of its franchises at first. They were all originally financed by private companies. The average man has to rent a home before he can afford to buy one. Mayor Pattullo gives all the details, he publishes both sides and furnishes an alternative scheme. What more can any man ask for. It is a pity we have not a bunch of citizens like Pattullo.

Mayor Pattullo closed the meeting with a few remarks on the manner in which the city business is conducted by the council.

SMITHERS NOTES

The recent zero weather froze the plumbing in Starrick's restaurant. It cost $50 to make repairs.

The Buckley Hotel management has decided not to put in plumbing until after the cold weather is over. It will be March before the work starts. The hotel will likely open about February 5. There will be 42 rooms, all heated.

The local Masons have purchased two lots and will erect a Masonic club building next summer.

Mr. Eason, the proprietor of the new picture theatre, is having a great success with his venture. Mrs. Eason is furnishing the music. The theatre generates its own electricity and also supplies light to several neighboring buildings and on the streets.

The new skating rink, 110x80 feet, is in operation and well patronized. There are many excellent skaters here. Hockey is throwing some thrills into the Americans resident here.

Three pool rooms are under construction or in operation. Mr. Chapin, formerly of Prince Rupert, has purchased H. W. Kraus' interest in the Peerless restaurant and is doing a great trade. His coffee is famous.

The Mason Adam drug store is a thing of beauty and a credit to the town.

Mr. McCullough of Prince Rupert has a pool room and barber shop here and is doing well.

John Wander, the proprietor of the pioneer barber shop, is doing a great business. He has large bathrooms with a circulating water system and a modern gas plant. He is an old timer and very popular.

Harry Hauson of Prince Rupert has put in all the plumbing in Smithers and has also some contracts in Telkwa.

The Spokane sails south on Friday.
