DAILY EDITION

Friday, Sept. 11, 1914.

That the Allies will ultimately win in the present struggle is never doubted by those who understand their strength and the issues at stake. What a good many people, however, are asking is, after that victory what then? Will a united Slav movement create another menace to the liberties of the world as the German has done. Would an additional power put into the hands of Russia be dangerous? To all these misgivings the same answer can be given, and which history confirms is that tyranny can never be successful. Any ambitious and suspicious move on the part of Russia or any other power would soon be confronted by a coalition of all Europe as Germany has been.

The days of the world conquerors are all over. There will never be another Alexander sweeping because there is no other world to conquer. There will never be another Napoleon with half the world trembling at his feet, and very soon there will be no Kaiser with world-wide ambitions. So long as Britain continues to walk the narrow way of justice and liberty there will always be a coalition possible that will defy the enemies of freedom. Indeed, the triumph of the right throughout the ages tends to strengthen the faith of humanity in an unseen personality that rules and sways. Terrible though, often, are the methods made use of, perhaps, after all, the way of the sword is a necessary step in the evolution of the finally civilized-being.

One of the striking facts in connection with the effects of the war on the increased cost of living is the results of public opinion as expressed in the press on the price of food-stuffs. In the United States, Canada and Britain the press strongly denounced the conduct of those who would take advantage of the present exigencies and raise the price of food. As a result of this, too, the governments and other bodies took the matter up and the uncalculated inflation ceased. Restoring the dealers to sanity if not to humanity is a useful service and will have far-reaching effects.

BELGIANS RETAKE TOWN OF AERSCHOT

Rotterdam, Sept. 10.—A dispatch from Breda, Holland, states that a heavy engagement took place on Wednesday at Aerschot in Belgium, when the Belgians attacked the German garrison there. As a result of the fighting the Germans evacuated the town and the Belgians again hoisted their colors over the place.

A good woman may be talked about, but she doesn't talk about others.

SMITHERS NOTES

Dr. W. R. Stone has opened an office in Vanderhoof.

Dr. G. G. Maclean paid a visit to Prince George this week.

A social dance took place at the Prince theatre last Wednesday evening.

H. W. Kraus was a visitor from Rose Lake during the early part of the week.

G. A. Rosenthal, of the Riverside dairy, left last Sunday for Edmonton to purchase dairy stock.

T. T. Dunlop left last Sunday morning for Prince George, and from there went down on the P. G. E. Railway.

Mrs. R. E. Williams spent the early part of the week visiting in Smithers, returning to Round Lake on Tuesday.

Mr. Joe Greer and bride returned to Smithers on Wednesday's train and have taken up their residence in J. A. Macdonald's cottage on Second Avenue.

J. A. Green, who, with Mr. Bostrom, had several miles of railway work at Fort Fraser, left for his home in Seattle Thursday morning after spending a few days at Rose Lake.

J. McNeil and Gus Timmermeister returned this week from Calgary with two carloads of cattle. Jos. Bougon and P. Powers, who left here at the same time, are expected to return shortly with another herd.

NEW HAZELTON NOTES

(From The Herald.)

The Montana Continental Development Company has purchased the materials in one of the big storehouses and is having it taken down to be used in the company's work.

Mrs. Ham and her son Oberlin leave on Saturday on a visit to relatives at Halifax, N. S. They will go out by the G. T. P. route to Edmonton and on east by way of Winnipeg.

Last week the telephone line running to the Rocher de Boule mine was connected up and given a trial. It works out to perfection. It is joined on the government line from Skeena Crossing to Hazelton, and cuts in about the foot of the tramway.

A piece of good luck came to Fred Peterson, of the Red Rose mine, and he feels good over it, both on account of the find and for what it indicates. While doing a little prospecting on his property he came to a part from which the snow had melted for the first time this year, and, indeed, to a larger area than it has been known to do before. Standing out, right on the surface, was a fine lead of ore, wide enough to show that there was in sight over two tons of as fine a quality of ore as one could look for. From the position of the ledge it is about certain that it will extend down and be cut by one of the tunnels driven from below. The find is an additional testimony to the value of the Red Rose mine, which was always looked upon as a sure thing.

Recently Samuel Lewis, an Indian of the Kitkatla band, has been in trouble for practicing a series of faith cures on credulous Indians who came to him to be healed of divers infirmities. Considerable sums of money, clothing and other remuneration seems to have flowed to his coffers. He was arrested on the complaint of one of his dupes and taken to Metlakatla for trial. He was convicted, but afterwards released on suspended sentence. He was made to return to his victims such possessions as could be identified.

There is one thing more deadly than shot and shell on the battlefield. IT IS HUNGER. Bread is the foundation for the soldiers' rations. Bread that makes bone and muscle and girds the strong right arm for the bayonet charge—bread that feeds and nourishes the entire body and permits of unerring aim to decimate the enemy's ranks. But any bread won't do. It must be made from the ripest, plumpest wheat. It must be cleansed of all impurities. A perfect flour for Tommy Atkins is
