

OWES HER LIFE TO
"FRUIT-A-TIVES"

Cured Both Stomach Trouble and Headaches

PAIDMISTON, ONT., JUNE 20, 1913.
"I really believe that I owe my life to 'Fruit-a-tives'. Ever since childhood, I have been under the care of physicians and have been paying out that people on the street often ask me if I thought I could get along without help. The same old stomach trouble and distressing headaches nearly drove me wild. Sometimes, I got a box of 'Fruit-a-tives' and the first box did me good. My husband was delighted and advised a continuation of their use. Today, I am feeling fine, and a physician meeting me on the street, noted my improved appearance and asked the reason. I replied, 'I am taking Fruit-a-tives'. He said, 'Well, taking Fruit-a-tives is making you look so well, go ahead and take them. They are doing more for you than I can'."

Mrs. H. S. WILLIAMS.

"Fruit-a-tives" are sold by all dealers at 5¢ a box. 6 for $2.50, trial size 25¢, or sent postpaid on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

HUGHES IS SARCASTIC.

Marauders May Raid Canada, But Only the Saloons.

Montreal, Dec. 2.—That he had been called a murderer for suggesting prior to the outbreak of war that Germany had hostile intentions, was the announcement made by Major General Sam Hughes, Minister of Militia, to the Canadian Club. The accusation came in one of many critical letters he had received for his attempt to place Canada in a state of preparedness for war. He said the Canadian government before the war actually broke out asked Britain what she wanted. Sir Robert Borden offering 19,000 men. Six weeks after the order to mobilize was received, 32,000 men left Canada.

Dealing with the talk of an invasion of Canada by German-Americans the major general remarked:

"I was told by the chief magistrate of Toronto with sober mien—I mean his, not mine—that 47,000 hunting licenses had been taken out in Maine by men intending to invade Canada. The only place marauders from the States was likely to raid was the saloons. There were only 1,314 licenses taken out in Maine this year, and any freebooters who put foot on Canadian soil would get a very warm reception."

The speaker contended there were hundreds of United States boys with the first contingent, and hundreds more would be with the second, willing to fight for liberty.

He said Britain felt confident of the outcome of the naval aspect of the struggle, and any German ships left on the top of the water after the war would be distributed among the Allies.

In Brussels a belt conveyor transfers barrels of flour from a mill to a railroad station through a tunnel under a ship canal.

It is reported that a number of British officers and men have had their feet frozen. No doubt many thousands of the Germans are also suffering from cold feet.

THE WAR IN MESOPOTAMIA.

British troops from India have been fighting at Fao, on the west side of the Euphrates River, where they may be able to hamper the Turkish move to invade Egypt. Arabs have attacked Sheikh and are said to be threatening Aden.

GENERAL DE WET'S REBELLION-- OPENED CAMPAIGN BY SPEECH

COMPELLED LOYAL MAGISTRATE TO ATTEND AND HEAR HIM ORDERED MERCHANTS TO OPEN STORES AND GIVE HIM SUPPLIES.

English newspapers have made a small shepherd's whip; and for that I was fined 5s."

"Here the magistrate interrupted De Wet and asked him whether he did not plead guilty. He admitted that he had pleaded guilty, and ordered the magistrate to keep quiet and he would allow him to say as much as he liked when he had finished speaking, and if he would not hold his tongue he would make him hold it."

"But," continued De Wet, "after the magistrate had delivered judgment, instead of reprimanding the boy and ordering him in future to be obedient and do his duty, he looked at the native as if he would like to give him a kiss. The magistrate was a brother-in-law of a man for whom he had the greatest respect, and who was very dear to him (President Steyn) and for that reason he would give him another chance; otherwise he would have taken him prisoner and gone and handed him over to the Germans. The magistrate's father was one of the staunchest pillars of the Church, and if he were alive to-day he would be heart and soul with him in this movement and condemn the dastardly act of robbery which the government was going to commit. The ungodly policy of General Botha has gone on long enough, and the South African Dutch were going to stand as one man to crush this unholy scandal. Some of his friends had advised him to wait a little longer until the English people had received a bigger knock, but it was beneath him and his people to kick a dead dog."

"Proceeding, De Wet said: 'England has got her hands full enough. I hate the lies that are constantly being spread to the effect that thousands of Australians, Canadians and Indians can be sent to fight us. Where could the English get them from? She has not enough men to fight her own battles. I am going through the town to take the following six articles, namely, horses, saddles, bridles, halters, arms and ammunition, and if anybody should refuse to hand my men these articles, if they should be found in their possession, I will give them a thrashing with a sjambok. I now order the storekeepers to go and open their shops, and I will select men to go round and take whatever I require apart from the above articles and they will give receipts for what they take, and if they do not open their shops willingly I will open them in another way.'

"General De Wet, after employing some abusive language to the magistrate, addressed the meeting as follows: 'Ladies, Gentlemen and Burghers, I have asked you here to explain to you my position.' Then turning to the magistrate, he said: 'Magistrate, I want you to get a short-hand writer to take down every word that I am going to say, because whatever I may do in the future I can never commit a greater act of rebellion than I have already committed. I am going through to Maritz, where we will receive arms and ammunition, and from there I am going to Pretoria to pull down the British flag and proclaim a free South African Republic. All those who side with the government were going to them. I signed the Vereeniging Treaty and swore to be faithful to the British flag, but we have been so down-trodden by the miserable and pestilential English that we can endure it no longer. His Majesty King Edward VII promised to protect us but he has failed to do so, and allowed a magistrate to be placed over us (he is one of the pestilential English) who is an absolute tyrant and who is not impossible to tolerate it any longer. I was charged before him for beating a native boy; I only hit him with 100,000 MEN IN U. S.

WILLING TO ENLIST

Ottawa, Dec. 2.—One hundred thousand men in the United States have offered to enlist in Canada for service in Europe, according to Major General Hughes, Canadian Minister of Militia. He made the statement here in reply to questions regarding the theory that Germans in the United States might attempt a raid across the border.

Major General Hughes said he was in favor of accepting the men who had offered themselves.

With so many discarded LL.D.'s, D.D.'s and Sc.D.'s lying about in Europe, it seems a pity that Americans should still have to work four long years for a mere A.B.—New York Evening Post.
