LA BELLE FRANCE

One of the most notable things which the allied soldier takes heed of on arrival in France is the manner in which the population of the country districts cling to the poor remnants of their homes, such as have been left surviving from the tide of German invasion.

As close behind the fighting line as it is possible to get, the sturdy peasant is once more tilling the fruitful soil and restoring that orderliness which is characteristic of the country districts of France. Their faith in the ultimate success of the allied arms is unshakable.

The work of reconstruction is greater in a material sense in France than in the other. What the Huns could not take away with them, they destroyed, rendering the whole countryside as inhospitable as possible for first, the allied armies, and secondly for the French people, whose resilient spirit they would break, if they could. Houses, factories, fruit and shade trees were wantonly destroyed. They could not be taken for the enrichment of Germany.

The great strategic retreat took place early last spring, and in the month of May the work of reconstruction was in full swing over the territory thus evacuated. In the fall of 1916, the Germans had planted crops of grain behind their lines for their own sustenance, and their retreat took place too hurriedly for these to be destroyed, as doubtless they would have liked to do. These crops were reaped by the French peasantry. Already five new villages have been reconstructed and are being used in the grain growing districts of the previously ruined areas.

Great assistance has been given by the Red Cross Societies from overseas to French people, not so much in money as in kind. Over forty thousand articles have been sent from this continent by the American Red Cross as required. These comprise everything from window glass to setting eggs. Among the gifts which are being arranged for now are thousands of fruit trees to take the places of those destroyed. New fruit stock has already been budded upon the stumps of the trees cut down by the vandals, and even last summer fresh growth was to be seen upon the trees which the foe had hoped to make useless forever.

It will take years and years of steady work to restore the ruined portions of France to their pristine state. The work is of immense proportions, and will hardly be completed by this generation. The outward evidence of the gradual progress of the last hundreds of years in this part of France has been obliterated by the modern high explosives, and the French people, with the assistance of their friends, are having a tremendous opportunity for landscape and town-planning on such a scale as otherwise would never have been offered.

The new France will arise the more glorious, reborn like the phoenix, and purged with fire.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

The Kaiser says that a victorious Germany must first be recognized before peace can come. Hot air, Wilhelm.

Germany is still at war with Russia, but the Russians won't fight. What will they do about it?

Sir Robert Borden sprung his conscription policy upon an astonished Canada after his return from the last Imperial War Cabinet conference. What will he spring when he returns from the next one?

There have been all kinds of -less days. The one the most welcome would be the profitless day.

If Hindenburg intends really to be in Paris by April, he will have to get a move on. The roads will be in worse condition for Germans now than in August, 1914.

Insomnia Cured Without Drugs

Internal Bathing Relieves the Cause

If you do not sleep there is always some cause. Don't start dosing with drugs. Nerves can't consume them. Relieve the cause and a good, sound sleep will be the result.

The system cannot be right if the Colon or large intestine is not kept clean and free from all waste matter. Bathe internally if you want perfect health.

Mr. F. C. Voigt, Rapid City, Man., writes:—"For several years I suffered from indigestion, nervous debility, insomnia and constipation. Had no appetite, and doctors did not expect I would live throughout the winter. Your book interested me. I got a 'J. B. L. Cascade' and in a few days obtained remarkable results. I now sleep and enjoy my meals better than for years before. I regard the 'J. B. L. Cascade' as a Godsend to me."

The "J. B. L. Cascade" is a perfected appliance for internal bathing, invented by Dr. Chas. A. Tyrrell of New York, and has been the means of restoring thousands to perfect health. It is shown and explained by Cyril H. Orme, Druggist, cor. 3rd Ave. and 6th St., who will be pleased to give you an interesting book called "The What, Why, The Way of Internal Bathing" on request. Ask for it.

The Queen Charlotte Islands, each grasped firmly along with their kit, an umbrella. The handles were of various sizes and styles, but all were mounted with precious metal. What would happen to a turban in the rain, anyway?

FISHING BOAT HAD HARD LUCK LAST TRIP

Vancouver, February 11.—The schooner Knickerbocker is in port from the north with no fish, but she brought a sheaf of bills which the New England Fish Company will have to pay. The schooner left here three months ago on a fishing venture but had engine trouble soon after reaching the banks and she sailed into Yakutat. The schooner Prospector was sent north to tow the Knickerbocker to Ketchikan where temporary repairs were carried out and the schooner came here under her own power. Extensive repairs will be carried out here. Result of the trip: Fish, none; expenses, $8,000.

Furniture wanted. Any quantity. Good prices paid for complete household furnishings and all kinds of tools, men's suits, coats, etc. Phone Red 243 or call n F. M. Crosby, 715 Third Ave.
