TRouble IN WATER WORKS

Foreman Quits Without Notice and Gets Seven Days Pay—Council Wants to Know Why

The city council last night, on recommendation of the finance committee, decided to appoint a committee to investigate the matter of why R. E. Walker left the city's service as water foreman without notice on May 31, when he had been given notice for June 30. It appears also that pay for seven days in June has been made Mr. Walker when he was not working. This matter the committee will clear up.

Ald. Macdonald asked the Board of Works if they knew anything about Mr. Walker being granted a week's holidays.

Ald. Perry said that the first information on the matter he had was today (Monday) and Ald. Mackenzie said the first he heard of it was on Saturday. They knew nothing of the granting of a week's holidays. Speaking for Ald. Munro, who was not present, Acting Mayor Collart stated that the chairman of the Board of Works also knew nothing of it.

Ald. Macdonald stated that he had information directly to the contrary. There had been some squabble between Ald. Munro and Mr. Walker but the latter had told him that he had been given a week's holiday.

On motion of Ald. Stephens, seconded by Ald. Mackenzie, it was decided to appoint a committee and Acting Mayor Collart named Ald. Stephens (chairman), Ald. Macdonald and himself to act.

SHOOTING AT KETCHIKAN

Alleged Bootlegger Shot by Prohibition Enforcement Agent When Raid Made

Newt, Casperson lies in the Arthur Yates Memorial Hospital today with three bullet wounds, one in the right chest, a second in the leg, and the third in the right hand, the result of a shooting affair which occurred about 1:30 o'clock Sunday morning when D. W. Flanagan, prohibition enforcement agent, attempted to raid an apartment over Otto Söberg's store which the government alleges was conducted by Casperson as a bootlegging joint, says the Ketchikan-Alaska Chronicle. Dr. R. V. Ellis, who is attending Casperson, says his chances for recovery are good unless complication set in, the most serious wound now appearing to be the one in the right leg, of which the bone is badly shattered.

Casperon and Charles Frazer, who was also found in the place at the time, are under arrest, charged with violation of the Alaska Bone Dry Act. Casperson appeared in the commissioners' court and entered a plea of not guilty.

How It Happened

H. D. Stabler, special assistant United States Attorney said that he had investigated the case thoroughly. He found, he said, that Flanagan went to Casperson's place at 1:30 o'clock Sunday morning, accompanied by George Naud, prohibition agent, and by LeRoy Moyer, city patrolman to serve a search warrant. They made an effort to get someone to open the door which was locked with a spring lock. After waiting for short while and receiving no response, Flanagan broke the glass in the front door of the stairway, leading to the apartment on the second floor. Flanagan then stepped inside and saw Casperson standing on the landing at the top of the stairway.

Flanagan then said, according to Stabler, "My name is Flanagan. I am a federal prohibition agent and have a search warrant issued by Judge Reed to search the premises." Casperson replied that he "did not give a damn" who Flanagan was and that he would kill any man who attempted to search his place. Flanagan then asked him to come down stairs and not to be foolish. At the same time Flanagan noticed that Casperson had a rifle in his hand which he was pointing at the officer. Flanagan took a couple of steps forward and Casperson said to him: "If you take another step I'll kill you," and at that he fired a shot from the rifle, the bullet striking a few inches to the right of Flanagan, and hitting the side-wall of the stairway, from which it glanced off, going through the panel of the door and penetrating the door casing.

Flanagan Fired

Flanagan then drew a .38 calibre Colt revolver and fired a shot. He noticed Casperson stagger back on the landing and for a second Casperson was out of sight. Flanagan then proceeded up the stairs and as he did so, Casperson made three more attempts to point his rifle at him and each time he did so Flanagan fired, at the same time calling to him to put down his gun and give himself up. When Flanagan reached the second floor he found Casperson sitting down leaning against the wall with his rifle in his hands, loaded and with the hammer back ready to shoot. Flanagan covered him with his revolver and Casperson said: "For God's sake don't kill me." The officer then told him to put his gun down and there would be no trouble. He did so and the prohibition agent took possession of the weapon, a 30-30 Winchester carbine.

Flanagan then sent Frazer, whom he found in the place, to the foot of the stairs to admit Officer Moyer. The search warrant was then read to Casperson and Frazer was put under arrest while Moyer went for a physician.

Upon the search between forty and fifty gallons of moonshine whiskey were found.

HOSPITAL OBJECTS TO CITY DEDUCTION

Question as to Whether or not Per Capita will be Paid for Non-Residents is Brought up

According to decision reached at the regular monthly meeting last week, the hospital board has written to the city council complaining of a deduction from the per capita grant payment of $67.80 covering as claimed by the council, the accounts of residents other than of the province. A letter on the point was received at last night's council meeting and was referred to the finance committee for report. The letter thanked the council for payment of $4,710.20 which had been made but pointed out that, according to agreement reached between the council and the board that the per capita grant of 60¢ was to be made for all patients.

City Solicitor Jones said that the claim of the hospital board was correct but members of the council generally were not inclined to approve the payment of the per capita grant on patients who came from outside of the province direct to the hospital. It was stated that the deduction made pertained to residents of Ketchikan.

COUNCIL CANNOT MAKE REFUND OF PAST TAXES

Application of Cold Storage Co. is Accordingly Turned Down on Finance Committee Recommendation

The question having been brought up through an application made by the Canadian Fish & Cold Storage Co., the city council last night received and adopted a report from the finance committee stating that it had no power to make refunds for taxes collected in past years.

City Solicitor Jones stated that taxes paid in mistake of law could not be refunded but that taxes paid in mistake of fact could, on decision of the council, be refunded. The case in point, he understood, pertained to a mistake in law.

CLUB LICENSES

City Solicitor Presents Report to Council—Special Meeting Wednesday Night

The city solicitor presented to the city council last night a definition of clubs to be used in connection with the council's consideration of the whole club question. The report stated that clubs were divided into two classes, those under Dominion charter and those that were not. The council's jurisdiction over the former was limited but, in the case of the latter, the council had the power to demand a bond on giving the license. The solicitor doubted if the council had the power to suspend, revoke or cancel club licenses.

There will be another special meeting of the council on Wednesday night to go into the club question.

Burdock Blood Bitters

Relieved Her of Headaches

Headache seems to be habitual with many people, and some, if any, are seldom free from it, suffering continually, and wondering why they can get no relief.

In all cases of headache the treatment should be directed to the removal of the cause, and with the cause removed the headaches will vanish.

It is impossible to find a better remedy for headaches of every description than equal B. B. B., acting as it does on every organ of the system.

Mrs. Douglas Risborough, 280 McKenzie St., Sarnia, Ont., writes:—"Having suffered from severe headaches for a considerable length of time I decided to try Burdock Blood Bitters, and found that it helped me wonderfully. It relieved the headaches, and I noticed a decided improvement in my health."

Burdock Blood Bitters is a remedy that has been on the market for the past forty-four years, so you don't experiment with some new and untried medicine. It is put up only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Less Pot-washing

SMP Enamelled Ware has the smooth surface and polish of fine crockery—without the breakage. And it is so very easy to clean—just like china, and therefore makes light work of pot washing.

Try this test. Take an SMP Enamelled Ware sauce pan and an all-metal sauce pan of equal size. Into each pour a quart of cold water. Put on the fire at the same time. The SMP sauce pan will be boiling merrily when the water in the other is just beginning to simmer.
