AN IDEAL PLACE FOR MILL

On another page is a report of an address given by M. P. McCaffery at the Gyro Club luncheon yesterday in which he spoke of the natural location here for a pulp mill. There are billions of feet of suitable timber close by a good site on a good harbor with transcontinental railway service. Some of these days an enterprising and far-seeing person will see the value of the local situation and will take advantage of it, but if this is to be done there will have to be a stable administration at Victoria to back it up.

PLANT BULBS NOW

This is the time to plant bulbs such as tulips, daffodils and crocuses, if they are not already in. This fine weather is a great opportunity. It should be done if possible before the hard frosts.

In a few days the gladiolas, dahlias and begonias should be put away for the winter. The ground should be dug in order to give the frost a chance to help in pulverizing it and there should be a general clean-up around the garden to prepare for the winter. If the roots of rose trees are covered with six inches of earth the trees will be likelier to come through the winter without damage.

CAMPAIGN ECHOES

Arrangements have been made with the Liberal committee for them to run a series of brief articles on the front page under the heading "Campaign Echoes." While these will be of an editorial nature they are not necessarily the views of the editor.

NOT A CANDIDATE

Editor, Daily News

Would you please give me a little space in your paper to deny the report in the News of a recent date that I might be a candidate in the Atlin riding in the forthcoming election. It was put in without consulting me. Also I have no wish to become a member of a hot air factory.

of the British Columbia lumber industry was concerned, much depended upon the result of the treaty negotiations between Britain and Russia.

Discusses N. R. A.

Mr. McCaffery also referred to the N. R. A. scheme of President Roosevelt in the United States. The outcome of this and the inflationary experiments in the United States was a matter of the greatest importance and interest to the rest of the world. The N. R. A., the speaker explained, was started with the idea of handling the country's affairs, business and otherwise, as was done during the World War—to take control of industry and anything they wanted. The President had received extraordinary powers to do this. At the present time a good deal of trouble was being experienced owing largely to the provision in the codes for collective bargaining.

The President had been given power to inflate up to $10,300,000,000 and, in addition to this, he had been given the power to put silver into circulation on a fixed ratio with gold. The question whether inflationary measures in the United States would be of a mild or a radical nature was one of greatest importance to the rest of the world.

Prince Rupert would have a direct interest, Mr. McCaffery said, in the move which was on foot in the United States to permit cities to go into bankruptcy as did companies, paying their bondholders or creditors their percentage on the proceeds. Meeting in Chicago, 140 mayors of the United States had unanimously passed a resolution along this line.

"We must admit," declared Mr. McCaffery in closing, "that the fishing industry is today the mainstay of Prince Rupert. It is what keeps us all going here. As our actual producers, the fishermen—halibutters, trollers, etc.—are really our leading citizens but are they recognized as such?"

In an improvement in the markets for products of the fisheries was Prince Rupert's immediate hope for an improvement in business generally, Mr. McCaffery felt.

Members and Guests

President T. W. Brown was in the chair and thanked Mr. McCaffery for his talk. There was a large attendance of members and guests were R. W. Champion of Smithers, and Ted Kergin of Alice Arm.

Sam Jabour reported that the used clothes campaign was concluding today and that a start would be made on the distribution tomorrow. A report was presented on trust fund matters.

Mrs. J. B. Gibson returned to the city on last night's train from the east after having attended recent meetings of the Dominion board of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Missionary Society of the Church of England in Hamilton.

It was up to every member, he said, to support the organization and its officers loyally if the anticipated progress was to be achieved.
