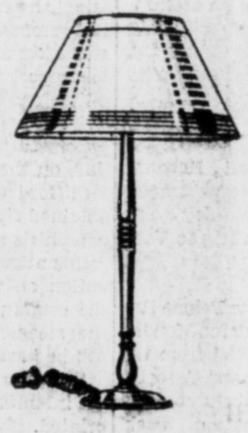
Overworked Eyes?
Does your child squint?
Do you strain for every word you read?

There is menace in inadequate lighting—Tired Eyes: Impaired Vision: Dizziness: Headaches. It affects the entire family. You can help prevent these health undermining causes with better lighting. The new G. E. Study and Reading Lamp is especially designed to eliminate glare; to diffuse light correctly and to give comfortable easy seeing. It saves eyes as no lamp before it has ever done. Regular price, $10.75, but offered at the following Special Prices for a limited period: $8.75 cash, including lamp and shade or $9 on terms, payable 75c a month.



Ask for the loan of the sight meter that tells how much light you need. This is a free service to help protect your eyesight.

OPERATIC FILM HERE

"Enter Madame" and "The Lone Cowboy" on Capitol Screen

"Enter Madame," an essentially light comedy drama, the story of which is told against a continually suggested and occasionally active grand opera music background, is one of two features on another double bill program at the Capitol Theatre here the middle of this week. The other feature is "Lone Cowboy," an interesting outdoor romance.

Elissa Landi, Cary Grant and Richard Bonelli, noted grand opera star, head the cast of "Enter Madame." Comedy is the predominating entertainment although the operatic background makes it attractive to lovers of good music. An especial treat is the choral rendition of excerpts from "Cavalierra Rusticana" which is a feature to the dramatic anti-climax. The story is that of a temperamental opera star and her affairs of the heart. The picture is clean throughout and its moral value is unquestioned.

Popular young Jackie Cooper is probably the outstanding member of the cast in "Lone Cowboy," Lila Lee, Addison Richard and John Wray also having important parts. The story is that of a boy who is sent west to live with an old friend of the family. The westerner, however, has soured on the world and the youngster has a tough climb to break down his resistance. There are many thrilling and dramatic sequences.

A dainty young lady from France,
Went to the Moose Hall for a dance,
She had so many beaus,
Who stepped on her toes,
She gave each a kick in the pants.

There was a young fellow called Bennett,
Who'd the money but sure wouldn't spennit,
Till the folk took the cure,
Now he ain't quite so sure,
But what he will soon have to lennit.

A bridge playing fiend named O'Connors
At the dinner table displayed such poor manners,
That his short-tempered wife,
Put an end to his life,
So he was buried with a few simple honors.

A pretty young lady named May,
Set out on her cycle one day,
When she met Mr. Brown,
She completely broke down,
Girls make spills into matches that way.

Just now through my old office door
There entered a terrible bore,
She looked raher hazy,
And said rhymes were crazy,
Then went and came back nevermore.

Of course it was only a prank,
Bennett proposed the C. C. F. plank,
With a wink and a smile,
The fools I'll beguile,
With this pensions and national bank.

There is an old man in the city,
Who said, "It's a shame and a pity,
"I can't afford snoose,
"While taking the 'News,'
"But I won't give up that in a jiffy."

In the south is a city, Vancouver by name,
Who, of sunshine and flowers, boasts fame.
But the rain and the snow
Dealt her such a blow,
She had to route her traffic via Rupert, What a shame!
