Democratic Youth, He Claimed Soldier's Part in War
And Established Record as an Ambassador
To Dominions

(By Thomas T. Champion, Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Forty-two years ago tonight a bulletin from White Lodge, Richmond, proclaiming the birth of the future King Edward VIII was flashed by the Duke of York to the Lord Mayor of London, and a minute later to the world at large.

23rd June, 1894.
Her Royal Highness the Duchess of York gave birth to a son at 10 o'clock this evening.
Both mother and infant are doing well.

Frederick John Wadd, M.B.

In these days Queen Victoria, at 75 years of age, and even then a legendary figure, was ruling the Empire, and the Royal Household in particular.

Hopes Fulfilled

"Never before in the history of this island," said The Times in its next issue, "has the reigning Sovereign seen three male descendants in the direct line of inheritance. Long and prosperous as Her Majesty's reign has been it has now received what we may look upon as almost its final crown. Nothing now remains to complete its measure of happiness except indeed that it should go on—as we trust, indeed, it will—until it has outlasted the reign of any former Sovereign, and has thus added one more distinction to the long list by which it is already ennobled."

As all know, the aspiration of The Times in regard to the length of Her Majesty's reign was more than fulfilled, although the happiness of its final year was clouded, both for Her Majesty and for her people, by the South African War. It was a melancholy coincidence, too, that in the same hour in which the future Prince of Wales and King of England was born, there also happened the assassination of the French President, Marie Francois Sadi Carnot, who was stabbed to death by an Italian anarchist after speaking at a public banquet at Lyons.

The Right Hon. H. H. Asquith, later to be Prime Minister at the opening of the Great War and still later to become the Earl of Oxford and Asquith, was Home Secretary and, as such, was present at White

CONVENTION IS OPENED

Roosevelt To Be Renominated Tomorrow and Will Make Speech of Acceptance Tomorrow Night

PHILADELPHIA, June 23.—With some 1500 delegates in attendance, the Democratic national convention opened today.

Renomination of President Franklin D. Roosevelt is scheduled to be formally made this afternoon with his acceptance tomorrow evening at a great open air gathering at Franklin Field.

The movement against Roosevelt, which has been threatened by a group led by former Governor Alfred E. Smith, is not taken very seriously in political quarters. Smith is not even expected to be in attendance, although James M. Farley, chairman of the Democratic national committee, states that, should he come, he will be given a hearing on the floor of the convention like any other delegate.

Of This City Warrants $100,000 Expenditure—Minister of Public Works Says it Will Cost More

OTTAWA, June 23.—The Co-operative Commonwealth Federation members do not like the idea of Prince Rupert's $100,000 federal building. In the dying hours of the session, A. A. Heaps, C. C. F. seatmate of Angus MacInnis, C. C. F. from Vancouver, addressed the minister of public works as follows: "I notice the government is spending $100,000 for a public building at Prince Rupert. It seems to me that for such a small city $100,000 is a large amount."

BIRTHDAY OF KING

Glittering Cavalcade

Queen Mary Becomes Dame Grand
Cross of the Royal Victoria
Order—Doctor is Viscount

LONDON, June 23: (CP)—Disregarding sultry heat and threats of thunderstorms, thousands of people assembled today around the Horse Guards parade ground in Whitehall to see King Edward VIII attend the ceremony of trooping the color. It was His Majesty's forty-second birthday.

Wearing a scarlet tunic and the black bearskin of a colonel-in-chief of the Grenadier Guards, the King, mounted on a chestnut charger, led a glittering cavalcade along the Mall towards the parade grounds amidst roars of cheering. Immediately behind the King rode his three brothers—the Duke of York, the Duke of Gloucester and the Duke of Kent—whom only today he appointed as "personal aides."

The Honors List

King Edward's birthday honors list includes conferment of title and dignity of Dame Grand Cross of the Royal Victoria Order on Queen Mary, his mother.
Lord Dawson of Penn, physician to the King, was raised from baron to viscount.

No Canadians were included in the honors list, conferment of honors being contrary to policy of the present government of the Dominion.

Merchants Present Views When City Commissioner Introduces Amendments to Licence Bylaw

With a number of merchants in attendance to make suggestions and inquiries and, in one or two cases, to register direct protests, City Commissioner W. J. Alder, in his capacity as city council, was in session Monday afternoon to introduce amendments to the Trades Licence Bylaw whereby retail traders of the city would be classified according to the lines of goods they carry with half licence fees imposed for each line carried in addition to the principal one specified in the licence. At present but one general trades licence is issued under which all lines of goods may be handled. As an example of how the amended bylaw would operate, Mr. Alder illustrated that, in the case of a dry goods store also stocking boots and shoes, the licence of $10 per half year would be collected by the city with half of the $10 licence to cover the boot and shoe line. Mr. Alder took the

Great Military Demonstration By Japanese in Peiping; U. S. Officer Forced Off Sidewalk

PEIPING, June 23: (CP)—A Japanese soldier, armed with a bayonet, forced Capt. Henry S. Jernigan of the United States cavalry from the sidewalk today to clear a path for Japanese civilians. Jernigan, attached to the embassy as a language student, escaped injury by thrusting the bayonet aside.

The incident occurred as Japanese troops were clearing a way during a martial demonstration this afternoon. Armed with bayonets, the soldiers pushed foreigners off the streets.

With bugles blaring, three thousand Japanese soldiers marched through Peiping to a field belonging to foreign embassies.

Chinese residents and foreigners were in a state of tense expectancy.

Such a martial presentation had not been observed in Peiping in almost forty years.
