Search on Slender Clue.

MRS. HENRY HUMBERT.

New Orleans, Jan. 10.—Mrs.
Henry Humbert, wife of a Bourbon street butcher, has found clues she believes will lead to the discovery of her parentage. She was kidnaped when a baby, she was 19 when she learned the woman she was living with was not her mother, and for 10 years she has sought her parents.A quarrel caused her foster-mother to tell her she was a foundling. A few days ago a stranger from Europe told her that her mother was Mrs. Minnie Coombs of San Francisco. The San Francisco police are looking for Mrs. Coombs."IRISHMAN'S TURKEY"An Appetizing but Inexpensive Dinner Dish.Of course it is no new thing for pork to be called "Irishman's turkey." It is the sparerib with the thinnest meat of all that usually gets this designation.
Buy spareribs in two separate pieces. Place on one piece stuffing made as follows: One-half loaf of bread, minced fine, soaked in hot water and pressed dry; one onion cut fine, a sprinkle of sage and thyme if liked, salt and pepper, a half teaspoon of baking powder and a small piece of butter—the baking powder is used in place of an egg. When nicely mixed place on spareribs, put on top piece and season. Put in pan with a half cup of boiling water and bake in a hot oven one hour, basting well. Pared and par-boiled potatoes may be baked around the meat during the last half hour.HELD RECEPTIONMrs. Halsey's Post-Nuptial Re-tion rooms carnations and ferns receiving of her guests by her mother, Mrs. Kergin, while tea son, assisted by Misses Phyllis McGoskie, Margaret Young, Alice Carss and Edith Sing.TWO MAIDS AND A MAN.One of these Tragedies in Which Pride Often Loses.The very appearance of a rival in the field is often the ending to what might have been a happy love story. That is to say, when the rivals are feminine. Men are usually made keener and altogether stimulated by a hint of rivalry.The trouble with the girl genuinely in love who sees another striving to snatch that which she knows to be almost, if not altogether hers, is that she hardly ever gives herself a fair chance.

Pride seems to demand that she stand aside, and so she gives her rival a clear field; and, more than likely, in her unhappiness shows herself at her very worst, instead of best and most charming.Now pride is a poor substitute for a happy love, and in any case it is mistaken pride that urges helping a rival by withdrawing altogether from the contest.
There is nothing immodest in striving to keep one's own. Pride and coldness will never keep a lover, and absence quite often makes the heart grow fonder—of the rival!SHEN SHOW RECAPTUREDRebels Once More Drive Out Im-
