

Indian Juvenile Let Go With Warning By Court

An Indian lad of juvenile age had been charged with theft in connection with the burglary some time ago of the residence of E. W. Slater at Metlakatla. He went with a warning by Magistrate Thomas McClymont sitting in a juvenile court judge yesterday morning. Ernest Maynard, who was recently arrested at Hope in connection with the burglary, brought back here by the police, still awaiting preliminary

JEWISH MASS MIGRATION HAS BEEN GOING ON

Pompey and his Roman legions appeared in Damascus, two rival brothers presented their cases to him. He nominated one to rule as a vassal-prince. But as this did not stop the bloodshed, he captured the city. Some 12,000 Jews perished in the ensuing massacre, and Rome became master of Jerusalem. With in a few years some 30,000 Jews had been enslaved.
Caesar's combine restored peace, but his death was the signal for renewed war of Jew against Jew until the Roman General Vespasian, under Nero, destroyed Jerusalem in 65 A.D. amid scenes of unparalleled horror.

On to Rhineland

By this time, the migration of the Jews had become habit. Colonies flourished in Mesopotamia, Cyprus, Alexandria and by A.D. 400 they were established in Spain and the Rhineland—the same Rhineland where they now have their backs to the wall. Jewish slaves were scattered through the Roman Empire.

The coming of Christianity heralded another era of persecution. The Church kept adherents of Judaism out of positions of authority and restricted social intercourse with them. Discrimination degenerated into oppression, western law became saturated with the idea of Jewish inferiority. A wave of enforced conversions and baptisms swept over Europe.

In those Dark Ages, the choice was baptism of severe restrictions including badges. Jews mostly accepted the restrictions and engaged in the lowly art of commerce and trade, about the only pursuit left to them by law. When commerce attained respectability they began lending out their capital at interest. Later Christian financial houses decided to end Jewish competition, drove the Jew to the pawn shop. The next logical step, expulsion, was taken by England in 1290. Other nations attempted to follow Christians began to whisper that the Jews were poisoning wells and killing children to get blood for their religious rituals.

But the mass of Jews went to Germany, Russia, Poland, Turkey and the Ukraine, where they met new persecutions. The massacre of Chmielnik, Poland, in 1648 drove them back into Western and Central Europe.

This time the Jews stuck in the face of all persecution. Commercial expansion, for which the Jew had a genius, and democracy—implying liberty, equality and fraternity, for all—had come.
Russia alone held out against complete naturalization of the Jews. A great wave of bloody pogroms, or massacres, occurred in that country at Kiev. Terrible persecution followed at Warsaw and Odessa. Anti-Semitic societies felt the Jew was multiplying too fast and achieving too many positions of wealth and influence.
From 1881 to 1914, 3,000,000 Jews fled Central and Eastern Europe, 1,000,000 of them finding a haven in America. Then, during the great War Great Britain offset German propaganda among the Jews with a promise to help them at their home in Palestine and since the War Britain has been administering Palestine under the League of Nations mandate. But the Arab also resents the Jew. Thus there has been much bloodshed.

To complete the tragedy, the War left great Jewish populations without any nationality—unwanted by both victors and vanquished. Thousands lost their lives in new pogroms. To cap the climax the United States slammed the immigration door in 1924.

FIRST AIRMAIL ARRIVES FROM "DOWN UNDER"

William A. Cluette, commander of the Philippine Clipper, is shown delivering the first official trans-Pacific airmail pouch from Australia and New Zealand to Postmaster William H. McCarthy, left, of San Francisco, on arrival at Alameda, Calif. The mail was flown from Auckland, New Zealand, to Honolulu by the ill-fated Samoan clipper, from there by Philippine clipper.

APPOINTED TO STATION

Tyle A. Swain Named Scientific Assistant—Sunderland Promoted

Announcement is made by Dr. Neal M. Carter, Director of the Prince Rupert Fisheries Experimental Station, of the appointment of Tyle A. Swain to the position of scientific assistant in chemistry on the staff of the station.

Mr. Swain is a native son of this province. He graduated from the University of British Columbia in 1931 and received the postgraduate degree of Master of Arts two years later from the University. Several years' teaching in high schools at Ladysmith and Vancouver has been followed by postgraduate work at the University of Washington and that university's oceanographic laboratories situated at Friday Harbour, San Juan Island, Washington. This work is expected to lead to the doctorate in 1939.

Although specializing in chemistry, Mr. Swain has studied in various fields including oceanography and the biochemistry and physiology of marine life. In being appointed to a vacancy on the staff caused by the resignation of Dr. Riddell a few months ago, his work at the station will be chiefly along chemical lines bearing on the numerous investigations constantly arising in connection with existing and possible marine products and by-products.

Mr. Swain will be arriving in the city shortly after the new year and it is expected he will be accompanied by his bride.

Sunderland Promoted

P. A. Sunderland of the Fisheries Experimental Station has been promoted to the permanent scientific staff with the grade of scientific assistant in the investigation of fish specialty products. This promotion, confirmation of which has just been received from Ottawa, is retroactive to October 1 of this year and is largely in recognition of the excellent progress made by Mr. Sunderland in the study of various smoked, pickled, spiced, frozen and canned products and their processing. Part of this work has been done in collaboration with O. C. Young, associate research engineer, and Dr. H. L. A. Tarr, assistant bacteriologist, at the station.

Lars Larson was fined $25, with option of seven days' imprisonment, by Magistrate McClymont in city police court this morning for drunkenness.

PREVENTING DISEASE

Editor Daily News:
Your editorial anecdote regarding Pestilence and Fear only serves to prove my point with regard to the beneficial effects of a health campaign for it is the Unknown that is feared and a health campaign serves to acquaint the public with the early signs of disease and the means of combatting it before it can get a hold on its victims.

It is the people who have never had fire drill who are panicky when fire attacks their homes. Those previously prepared calmly carry on and thus save not only themselves but much more of their property than would otherwise be saved.

It is the same with disease and "an ounce of prevention is worth many pounds of cure".

Granted there is no known cure for late cancer, granted we cannot yet combat acute anterior poliomyelitis (infantile paralysis) efficiently, granted that we have to treat the common cold symptomatically, yet there are many diseases which could be wiped off the map,

GIANT RADDISH

EIM CREEK, Man., Dec. 1—(CP)—A radish 16 inches long, 16 inches in girth and weighing five pounds was dug up by Mrs. J. H. Robinson, gardener of this district. The huge specimen, believed to be of record size, was grown from seed planted last spring.

HOBBS AGAIN HURT

LONDON, Dec. 1—(CP)—Harold Hobbs, Charlton Athletic's clever winger, who has been out of soccer for some months through a broken leg, had the injured limb hurt again when he turned out for the reserve team in a recent match.

ONDON, Dec. 1—(CP)—Claude Falkner, noted billiard player, who has been out of the game for eight years, is making a comeback and will be a competitor in some big matches this winter.

If the public knew all that science knows regarding their prevention, and would apply that knowledge.

It is for that purpose that health campaigns are put on but, even with the public fully informed on preventative measures, I suppose one cannot hope to see those measures put into force. That would be Utopia.

"IS THIS A B. C. PRODUCT?"

For most of our domestic needs, the answer can be "YES." There are few staple food-stuffs that are not produced or processed in British Columbia; few of our everyday requirements that cannot be supplied by our own factories.

Every purchase of a B.C. PRODUCT helps the local producer to increase and improve his output.

More B.C. PRODUCTS will be stocked and sold, more of our own people will find employment, if we all form the habit of asking—
