DAILY EDITION

Saturday, July 11, 1914.

An Edmonton despatch says "The intention of the British Columbia Ministers (Messrs. Bowser and Ross) is to get acquainted with the country and people so as to be able to more intelligently deal with the northern questions that are constantly coming up at Victoria.

The Bowser-McBride Government has been in office ten years but even at this late date the people would be glad to see a measure of intelligence used at Victoria in the consideration of questions affecting the north.

Tonight, it is expected, W. J. Bowser and W. R. Ross will be with us and perhaps they will be able to enlighten the people on a few matters.

They may possibly tell us why the North has been discriminated against and why instead of spending the money which the North contributes to the Provincial exchequer to develop this new and wonderfully rich district, the money is used to develop the southern portion of the Province.

Perhaps they will also tell us why thieves and murderers have been allowed to run at large in the interior country unpunished of the crimes which they have committed.

Why has the little public money spent here been wasted so that there is hardly a decent road in the whole north country?

Why are incompetent roadbosses employed and why are they allowed to build trails to their own properties?

Why has the land been given away to speculators instead of being reserved for settlers?

Why is it that the road

FIGURES IN GODERICH POLITICAL ACTION

Dr. A. H. Macklin, Conservative candidate in Centre Huron in the recent elections against William Proudfoot, K.C., M.P.P., has pleaded not guilty to a bribery charge, and, with Rev. Joseph Elliott, defeated by Mr. Proudfoot at the last elections, will be tried before Magistrate Kelly in Goderich. J. B. Hunter, organist, says he received the money from Dr. Macklin, following a conversation with Mr. Elliott. According to the prosecution, two other men overheard the Hunter-Macklin interview. Dr. Macklin and Mr. Elliott deny any suggestion of corruption.
