BOWSER RAISES AN OBJECTION

Prince Rupert is asking is that the necessary assurance be given the bank in order that the hydro electric scheme may be proceeded with.'

The City Solicitor.

On the same subject the City Solicitor explained that the Attorney General's objection based simply upon the form of the bill to ratify the bylaw.

"We have the written assurance that the bylaw will be ratified signed by the president of council," said Mr. Peters. "There is absolutely no cause for uncertainty about it. The bylaw will be ratified. The bank has already advanced money on the written assurance of the Government to that effect."

The explanation of the difficulty as gathered from reliable sources by The Daily News besides those quoted is simply this: The Attorney General's criticism is aimed at the form of the bill which seeks to ratify the whole of the hydro electric bylaw, not simply the point at issue that the schemes are presented as one enterprise.
