KAIEEN ISLAND

summit of Mount Oldfield. Those who have once made the trip inevitably make it again and many times again. For the view from up there is superb, the air even half way up is fresh, pure and soft as a magic drink, the whole excursion is exhilarating beyond measure.

Up there, too, there is grassy sward, real grassy knolls on which to loll (as the poet puts it). To bask in the sunshine on the rolling slopes of Mount Oldfield, with above you the blue sky, far below you the tops of mighty trees, and all around you the grand panorama of ocean, mountain range and winding coast, is something to live for. The sooner that road up the mountain is completed the better for Prince Rupert. Our city will become a pleasure resort and rendezvous of wealthy holiday makers as attractive as Geneva or Lucerne.

Certain Scotch enthusiasts who know the extent of the undulating ground on the top of the mountain have been suggesting that a golf course might easily be laid out there and enjoyed to the full. Early morning golf, however, would not become fashionable were the mountain course the only one available in Rupert when the golfing craze gets the city.

When Mayor Manson last year made his famous trip around Morse Creek he regarded the mountain with interest and suggested that the franchise for an aerial wire rope railway to carry passengers swiftly up and down the slope would be a thing to cinch. To Mr. Manson now as M. P. for the district has been entrusted the duty of pressing for the roadway around the island and that to the summit of the mountain as grants from the Government for Prince Rupert electors and taxpayers. Mr. Manson has promised to do all he can to get these advantages for the city, and as their cost will be after all but little proportionately considered there is every chance that in a year or at most two Prince Rupert will be able to include "a drive around the island" and "a trip to the mountain top" amongst her show attractions.
