Christmas Greetings

To what end is all sacrifice and suffering if not to nurture the hope for the ultimate peace and liberty of mankind?

And to what end is hope if we are not ready to seize it and convert it into faith, strength and courage to face the challenges and changes to come?

Peace, we shall surely have. And whether it be a good and lasting peace for us and ours depends on how alertly and effectively we are contributing our labors to preserve and build upon gains already won.

So this year, among other good things, we wish you an abundance of faith, strength and courage. May these never desert you.

Old Fashioned Is Right!

There's nothing streamlined about this greeting. Everything about it is old, and rusty, and creaky with age. Still it's sincere: Just a very merry Christmas to all of your family from all of ours!

The Spirit of Christmas . . .

The spirit of Christmas will outlive any and every attempt to destroy it. The spirit of Christmas always has memorial feast for Jacob Robin--and always shall-cast its joyous spell into the hearts son of Hazelton, who is believed to of mankind.

There are forces in the world today that would tear asunder the spirit of Christmas and the very principles brother of deceased, and Joseph, that form it but none can, no matter how disguised, silas and John Wesley, nephews. It succeed in putting themselves and their motives above was announced that search parties the teachings of righteousness laid down when the had all failed in their efforts to Saviour was born 1942 years ago.

Canadians and their Allies the world over are en- Hazelton in the near future. gaged today in a war to overthrow the forces of tyranny and despotism. The armed forces of our country are fighting to keep the spirit of Christmas alive and we need have no fear of the outcome.

In the midst of any degree of conflict all Canadians will observe in some measure the spirit of Christmas. As our fighting men do here and abroad, we at home would do well to observe in the amplest measure possible and with full and proper understanding of the occasion the spirit of Christmas. That observance will help our men. and ourselves in the great fight on which we have joined.

Dreary would our lives be without the hope of victory. Let us be united in a concentrated effort to keep, and a concentrated effort to up the morale of our country in keeping with the true spirit of Christmas. Only faith in the freedom of mankind can enable us to go through to victory. Let us by word and deed, express belief in right over might. The will to carry on must prevail but it is not fitting that the beautiful spirit of Christmas should be marred by the Gods of War or any other influence.

On this Christmas Eve. the most of us, some of us very directly, cannot but think of those near and dear who this day may be far away engaged in battle for our sakes. Our thoughts must also go out to those Christians in less fortunate lands than our who are today under the dictator's heel.

We can do no better than keep the true Spirit of Christmas clear and bright here where it is still amply possible for us to do so. We-each and every one of uscan do our part tomorrow by making it a real, Christian Merry Christmas.

It is in that spirit that the Daily News today extends the compliments of the season.

This is to thank all our Customers and Friends for their patronage, and wish them all
