Modern Etiquette By ROBERTA LEE

Q. In talking with other people in what way should a woman refer to her husband?

A. She should call him by his christian name when speaking to friends, as "my husband" in talking to acquaintances, and as "Mr. Smith" when talking with servants or business people.

Q. When one is in the theatre is it permissible to reprov people nearby who insist upon talking?

A. Yes, they deserve to be reproved, but in some instances they become more rude when reproved.

Q. Is it correct to close a formal social letter with "Sincerely yours?" A. Yes.
