American metropolis. She says there is something entertaining going on all the time and just to stroll down Broadway's great white way is an adventure in itself. Financially, the workers of New York may not be as well off as their counterparts in Canadian cities. They may not own their own homes but they are likely to have more electric appliances and the like, even if such items are being purchased on the installment plan. This was one of the observations made by the Prince Rupert lady while she was on her travels.

Two highlights in their New York entertainment, especially enjoyed by Mr. and Mrs. Pavlikis, was their evening at the "Latin Quarter" where they heard and saw Ted Lewis, his orchestra and revue and their visit to Radio City Music Hall.

The Prince Rupert couple found meals in New York offered plenty of variety and were well prepared but the best dining service provided by the Canadian National Railways on the Jasper to Prince Rupert run.

Mrs. Pavlikis isn't a member of the Chamber of Commerce, but it might be an idea. When she left Prince Rupert on her eastern trip she carried a stack of city tourist folders with her and when she got to the Pennsylvania station she made a tour of that large depot placing a folder at every likely spot. On her trip Mrs. Pavlikis met a number of Canadians who did not know there was a road through to Prince Rupert. Those few know now.

Although Mrs. Pavlikis found New York an exciting city to visit, she much prefers Prince Rupert as a place to live.

Father Monet O.M.I., who was stationed in this parish before World War II and became Roman Catholic chaplain in this area, later going overseas, is back in Prince Rupert. He arrived this week from Ottawa and is on his way to the Yukon where he is to be stationed.

FANCYWORK FOR MOOSE BAZAAR

Numerous articles of fancywork for the fall bazaar on October 14 and 15 were turned in by members of the Women of the Moose who attended the regular monthly meeting of the chapter this week at the Moose Temple. Business matters largely dealt with arrangements for the fall function. Chairman of the meeting was Mrs. Thomas Glenn. Winner of the lucky box draw was Mrs. V. Miller, who was absent from the meeting. Following the business session, refreshments were served.
