Special Edition of Daily News Local Publicity Body

At the regular meeting in the city council last night, members decided to obtain copies of the special edition to certain key points in Canada and the United States.

DRILLING OUTFIT IS BEING MOVED

Second load of drilling equipment of the Royalite Oil Co. left the dry dock pier yesterday bound for Allford Bay. Transferring of equipment, which is to be used near Skidegate, is being executed by the Freight Northern Express of the Marine Lines of Vancouver. According to R. Hammond, assistant to the President of Royalite, the complete outfit will be at Allford Bay Tuesday or Wednesday. From Allford Bay it is transferred across Skidegate Inlet to the drilling site by log raft under tow.

The third and final load will leave Monday morning after arrival of the freighter Saturday night or early Sunday morning.

Mr. Hammond stated that transferring operations are running and he can see no reason why more than three trips are necessary. It was disclosed earlier that four trips by the Northern Express, in command of Capt. O. Sorenson, would be required. Actual drilling operations, expected to commence early in December.

Equipment hauled on the second trip included the derrick, a mud pump, draw works, a heavy duty International truck, station wagon and jeep.

Mr. Hammond left by plane for Sandspit yesterday and will be in Vancouver tonight. He then plans to leave for his home office in Calgary.

Oil drilling activity will be welcomed on the Queen Charlotte Islands where at this time of the year, the fishing and other industries usually slacken off.

Twelve cars of oil drilling equipment is being moved to Skidegate. The cars arrived here from Edmonton about a week ago.

Transferring the shipment is quite a job in itself, apart from getting everything landed, and started on test well-drilling.

KNOWS ACAPULCO HARBOR WELL

The harbor of Acapulco, in Mexico, where the luxury cruiser Corsair was lost recently, after having stranded is well remembered by Oscar Smith, Collector of Customs at Prince Rupert, and well known old timer. Mr. Smith has several photographs, taken at Acapulco in 1910, when he was serving in the British Navy. The spacious harbor has long been regarded as an excellent one, and the difference between now and as far back as 1910, is most impressive. In the latter year, the dock, according to the pictures was a makeshift affair, and not to be compared with the solid and up to date accommodations provided today. Acapulco has become a modernized and progressive community.

CO-OP GETTING NOTED VISITOR

Commencing a ten-day tour of British Columbia fishermen's co-operatives, Dr. (Monsignor) M. M. Coady, director of the extension department of St. Francois Xavier University at Antigonish, Nova Scotia, and president of the Canadian Association for adult education, will be a visitor of more than usual interest in Prince Rupert at the end of this month. His principal engagements here will include a public meeting in the Civic Centre Auditorium on the night of November 30 and an address at the tenth anniversary banquet of the Prince Rupert Fishermen's Co-operative Association on December 1. Dr. Coady will be arriving by train on November 29 and will leave by steamer on December 1 for Vancouver to fill several engagements down the coast.

Dr. Coady has a widespread reputation as an economist, particularly in regard to the fisheries and co-operatives. In 1928 he was a member of a royal commission which investigated the fisheries of the Maritimes and recommended federal assistance for the establishment of co-operative marketing organizations. One of the results was the establishment of the extension department of St. Francis Xavier University of which Dr. Coady was made head. Another result was the giving of federal aid in the way of a grant from the Department of Fisheries for an adult education program on co-operatives and credit unions.

Dr. Coady received international recognition when he was appointed to speak before a committee of the United States Department of State delegated to study means of effecting President's Truman's plan to assist backward areas of the world. He also appeared before the sub-committee of the United Nations economic commission and addressed the United Nations Conference on conservation and utilization of natural resources at Lake Success.

"One of Canada's ablest men" is the tribute paid to Dr. Coady by Hon. Robert Mayhew, federal minister of fisheries.

ROTARIANS TO EXCHANGE CARDS Comma Could Mean Fortune

A trans-Atlantic Christmas handshake will be exchanged between Rotarians in Prince Rupert and Poole, England, maintaining a traditional friendship between the two clubs.

Fred Scadden, city Rotarian, whose visit to the Poole Club two years ago cemented a warm friendship between the two clubs, passed out names of Poole Rotarians to members at the weekly Rotary meeting at the Broadway Thursday afternoon and requested that Christmas cards be sent to each.

A 17-ounce Christmas cake has already been sent by Prince Rupert Rotarians to their fellows in Poole, Mr. Scadden said. The Christmas cake gift replaces an original proposal to send gifts to an old peoples' home supported by the Poole Club. Residents of the home are adequately provided for, local Rotarians were advised.

Entertainment program at Thursday's meeting took the form of a film showing at the Capitol Theatre by Sgt. L. A. N. Potterton, who displays films of the Saskatchewan air ambulance and on Australian wild life.

Guests at the meeting, welcomed by President R. G. Van der Sluis, were E. H. Church, Vancouver and Sub-Inspector G. A. Johnson, Police Coupe.

BRITISH BUYING CUT
VANCOUVER—For the next few years the United Kingdom will not buy anything in Canada it can do without, M. W. Mackenzie, deputy minister of trade and commerce, said last night. The effect of reduced British buying in Canada would not be felt evenly across the Dominion but British Columbia would probably "feel the impact" rather more than other parts of the country.

Ottawa Hears About U.S. -- Alaska Link

OTTAWA (CP)—External Affairs Minister L. B. Pearson said today it would cost $200,000,000 to link United States through British Columbia with Alaska by railway and estimated that such a line would have a $50,000,000 a year deficit for years. He told Howard Green, Progressive-Conservative member for Vancouver-Quadra, that the government already has surveyed the possibilities but would be willing to discuss it with American authorities in the wake of the right given by Congress to President Truman to take it up with Canada.

Search Plane Is In Crash

TAMPA, Florida (CP)—A B-29 starting out to hunt for the B-29 missing near Bermuda, crashed today bare seconds after the take-off from here. Five of the nine crew members aboard were killed. The other four were thrown clear of the plane and were only slightly hurt.

The plane was from MacDill air base and one of nearly 100 Air Force, Navy and Coastguard planes which have been searching for the bomber which ran out of fuel and crash landed in the sea Wednesday.

Radio signals and flares which were reported last night indicated that there might be some survivors from the missing plane on the sea.

EAST-WEST CO-OPERATION

LAKE SUCCESS (CP)—Andrei Y. Vishinsky said yesterday there is common ground for co-operation between east and west but he failed to say how it would be done.

The Soviet foreign minister slipped in a brief reference to co-operation during debate on peace proposals in the 59-member political committee of the United Nations assembly.

The committee was debating Vishinsky's proposal for a big power peace pact and American-British counter-proposal for reaffirmation of the United Nations principles for peace.

INTEREST IN P.T. MOUNTS

Large Attendance at Borden Street to Enjoy Interesting Program

Indicative of increasing interest in Parent Teacher Association activities and objectives the attendance of members at Tuesday evening's regular monthly meeting of the Borden Street School Association was greater than at the previous meeting. An informative and enjoyable program had been arranged by convenor, Mrs. A. Logan, and the audience appreciated to the full the talk on Civic Centre activities by Don Forward, illustrated by films taken in the Centre by Sergeant Potterton. Mrs. G. D. Mead rendered two delightful piano solos preceded by brief explanations that were much enjoyed, and Mike Colussi played three piano-accompaniment numbers that gave the audience a real treat.

In his talk Mr. Forward reminded those present that it was no exaggeration to say that Prince Rupert's Civic Centre was unexcelled in Canada. He suggested that it was hardly enough for citizens to bring visitors to the city to look over the centre and boast of its value if these same citizens did not become members. The rates for membership are at a minimum and much below fees paid for much inferior services in most cities. Mr. Forward covered quickly the list of activities provided, and stressed the point that even if a citizen could not take part in any of them it was still a matter of good business to become a member. It was a cheap investment in citizenship, a community service that paid incalculable dividends.

PREPARING TO CUT TARIFFS

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada and thirty-two countries are preparing for a new round of negotiations to reduce tariffs. The main aim, a trade expert said here, is to try and get still further tariff concessions from the dollar-rich United States.

Some concessions were obtained by exporting countries in Geneva negotiations two years ago at Amnezy, France, conference last summer Groundwork for a multi-nation tariff-reducing conference will be planned at a trade-tariff meeting in Geneva next February.

Then followed a film depicting many of the activities that were carried on during the past year—Rup-Rec classes and the annual display, handicraft activities and many feet of basketball games including the Globe Trotters' series and provincial championship games.

President Mrs. H. C. Flood presided over the brief business session at the start and with sec-
